CITY OFFICERS BATTLE

There was a little excitement this morning in official circles. Chief of police Rayburn and councilman S. A. Gardiner held a slight argument which resulted in the doctor making a hurried call to the a'derman's home and the chief making a visit to an M. D. and having his good right hand decorated with a bandage. Several saw the disturbance, but as each man has a different description, it is impossible to furnish the public information by rounds. It is sufficient to say that this fight was no fake, neither was there any time lost in finding the proper man to act as referee.

This shoulder striking contest was the outcome of a statement made by Mr G rdinier which Mr. Rayburn construed to be a direct charge of having used his official position to extort money from the women of the red light district. During the general "talk" which the two were having regarding the charge Gardinier is said to have used language which the policeman forcibly resented.

UNKNOWN AND INSANE

Yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Rayburn received a call from the North side saying that a peculiar looking man was seen menacing the neighborhood.

Upon his arrival there he found a man sitting in the street eating a light lunch. After a short attempt at a conversation Rayburn discovered that the stranger was mentally unbalanced and took him into custody. Before the county judge he could not say whether his name was Jasper Billings or Billings Jasper and every indication pointed to the fact that he was insane and was so judged by Judge Henry. The man is now being held until the state attendant can arrive and take him to the asylum.

Died—At his home near the town of Wallowa, Friday evening June 29th of a complication of diseases, James Doris, aged 88 years.

The deceased was born in the north of Ireland in the year 1818, and when quite a young man came to America and was made a citizen.

He was a practical engineer and followed railroading for 29 years of his life. He ran a government supply train during the civil war, and was wounded at Chattanooga by rebel bullets. He was an engineer on the Union Pacific railroad when that was completed and ran the first train over the golden spike that marked the completion of the road.

In 1875 the deceased came to Oregon and after spending a few years in Grande Ronde valley settled on a valuable farm near Wallowa where he continued to reside until his death. He was a man of very honorable intentions and was highly respected by all his neighbors.
