MITCHELL NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

It took the jury in the trial of George Mitchell just an hour and 25 minutes to determine that the youth was not guilty of murder in killing "Holy Roller" Creffield in Seattle on May 7.

The verdict was read at a quarter to five this afternoon and was greeted with rounds of applause from the excited audience.

Every face assumed a happy expression and many women were hysterically weeping through their smiles when the verdict was read.

MITCHELL GETS OVATION

A few minutes later the prisoner was discharged from custody. He shook hands with the jurors and was then treated to a general ovation. Men and women crowded up close to the rail to shake hands with the youth who was clearly the hero of the hour.

As he went down the stairs to the jail to gather up a few of his effects, and as he told farewell to the jailors and his fellow prisoners of the past few weeks, his way was blocked by people eagerly crowding over the banisters to catch a glimpse of the acquitted youth.

DIDN'T REGRET KILLING

When asked as to his feelings with regard to the killing and as to the ordeal which has thus suddenly terminated, the young man replied that when he killed Creffield he hardly knew what he was doing so worked up had he become by the wrongs he and his sisters had suffered. He stated that he could not regret he had moved the man from the possibility of harming his family.

Mitchell will leave tomorrow for Portland where he will probably resume his position in the mill which he held previous the killing of Creffield.
