CLEAN UP NOTICE

All persons are notified that the ordinances pertaining to nuisances and the cleaning up of garbage, filth, decaying substances, privies, and cess pools, will after this date be strictly enforced. After 24 hours notice the city officers have the right to clean up the streets and alleys abutting on any and all property and a lien for the expense may be taken against the property. The same law applies to the cleaning of filth and rubbish from lots and blocks.

The penalty runs as high as $50 fine or 25 days imprisonment. Under the ordinances no manure or garbage is allowed to be placed in the alleys from March 1st to November 1st each year.

All persons are warned not to throw any paper, vegetable or fruit peelings or other refuse on the sidewalks gutters or streets.

It is the intention to have a regular, scavenger officer appointed who will in the first instance contract with the owners for cleaning up or notify them so they may clean up themselves. If no action is taken by the party who is notified to clean up, the city will clean up and file a lien on the property and a warrant will be placed in the hands of the Marshal for the arrest of persons who refuse or neglect to clean up, on conviction before the Recorder, the fine will be from $5 to $50.

It is not a desirable task for the administration to invoke the criminal law against our good citizens but that is what is required of us when other remedies fail.

J. B. STODDARD,
Mayor.

MARRIED

At St. Peters Episcopal church in this city July 11, 1906, at eight o'clock in the presence of only a few relatives and friends, Mr. Claud Soranton of Baker City and Miss Jessie Grimmett of Island City, were united in marriage, Rev. Gibbs officiating.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Carrie Hunter.
The bride was met at the altar by the groom, attended by Mr. Floyd Jones as best man, and looked very pretty in a gown of white net over silk, made in train. Her veil was fastened with a circle of pearls, the gift of the groom.
Miss Addie Hunter, the bridesmaid, wore pale lavender and carried pink La Franco roses.

The groom has spent the greater part of his life in Island City but is now living in Baker City, in the employ of Bache-Sage Hardware Co., and is an energetic and amiable young man. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mrs. F. J.
Holmes of Island City. Both have a host of friends who wish them every pleasure and prosperity. They left on the evening train for Baker City.

INVENTS A BEET LOADER

Beet growers will welcome the advent of the "beet loader." This machine was invented by Mr. Chambers of Summerville who placed the contract for its construction with the La Grande Iron Works, where S. D. Hill has just completed it.

The primary purpose of the machine, is to facilitate the loading of the beet, after it is pulled and topped. The custom in pulling beets is to pull 4 rows on a side and throw them in piles, thus bringing 8 rows into one long series of piles. Formerly, as everyone knows, the beets were loaded from these piles to wagons by means of the prong shovel. Mr. Chambers has come to the front with this new piece of mechanism and from now on, without a doubt, a boy to drive the team and a man to manipulate the levers will do the work, better, quicker and much easier.

The principle is simple. A frame, resembling a road scraper, carries a fork controlled by a lever in such a way that the man in charge of the levers can dump the fork on approaching a pile of beets and after this fork has passed under the heap, he tilts the lever and throws the beets, dirt and all on an elevator. The lever is then lowered for the next pile.
Meanwhile the first fork full has been carried over a cleaning elevator, in such a way that every particle of dirt has been sifted. After crossing the first elevator the beets are caught by a cross elevator set at an angle and carried up to a height that allows room for a large wagon which acts as a receptacle. The process of loading is similar to the header system.
It is easily seen, that from fifty to sixty acres can be picked up cleaned and loaded in a day. As the fork is wide enough to pick up two rows of piles, this means that sixteen rows of beets are elevated in one trip across the field.

It is thought that one team of horses will handle the machine.

The "loader" is well constructed, and built to insure lightness and rapidity, but more than that, it does away with the usual dirt that accompanies the loading of this crop, and will surely alleviate the life of the sugar beet grower.
