THE MEANEST MAN

Until yesterday it was generally believed that the meanest man in the United States was the fellow in Boston who pawned the headstone on his mother's grave for a flask of liquor. But the police say that Alex Stevens Alas Brown arrested by Detectives Hellyer and Oaughn on a charge of larceny can lay claim to being considerably meaner. He sold the tent which sheltered his wife and children on the river bank for a few dollars leaving them without a place to sleep and entirely without funds or food. After this display of inhumanity Stevens in company with Robert Wilson started out on a series of crimes which finally landed them both behind the bars on felony charges. —Journal

NOTICE OF STREET IMPROVEMENT

Notice is hereby given, that the City of La Grande will improve Second Street therein, by placing the same on established grade, and properly making all necessary cuts and fills, from the intersection of said street with Grandy Avenue to the North line of C street in said City.

That unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of not less than two-thirds of the property abutting said Street between said points be filed with the Recorder on or before the 25 day of July, 1906, said improvement will be made at the expense of abutting property owners.

Dated this 11th day of July, 1906.

J. R. SNOOK
City Recorder

IMPOUNDING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to the owners of cattle, horses, and fowls that the ordinance prohibiting certain animals and fowls running at large within the city, from and after this date, July 11th, 1906 will be strictly enforced.

No animal is permitted to be on the streets or alleys without being securely fastened with a rope or chain or directly under the control of a person capable of handling said animal while being driven through the streets.

The owner or party in charge of an animal is liable to be fined $25 or 10 days imprisonment. The animal may be impounded and the owner is liable for all damage sustained by any person.
