THAW TALKS WITH HIS MOTHER

(Scripps News Association)
New York, July 16.—Mrs. William Thaw arrived at the Tombs today dressed in black to see her son. The pass the mother carried was approved and she was permitted to ascend to her son's cell. Mrs. Harry Thaw preceded the elder a few minutes.

When the mother was ushered to the tier where Thaw's cell is, an attendant opened the cell door and got a stool for her to rest on. Harry took his wife in his arms and rushed through the open door and embraced his mother affectionately. Both shed tears in which Evelyn joined. Soon after Evelyn and Jousua Thaw retired leaving Harry and his mother alone. She remained in the cell discussing the trial until she was compelled by the rules to leave.

Clifford Partridge, the new attorney for Thaw, also spent several hours in the cell. The crowds on the outside were the hardest to handle the police has encountered since the tragedy.
