LOST CHILD NOT FOUND

For 96 hours the dreary search for Cecil Brittain has been in progress at the toll-gate on the summit of the Blue mountains without the slightest trace of the child being found.

Over 150 people are now at the summit, and this afternoon all the forces were called in for a consultation. It was almost definitely decided that the child has been kidnapped, as there is not the slightest trace of clothing, blood or other mark leading to the theory that he has been devoured by wild animals has been found. The Draper bloodhounds absolutely failed to pick up a scent anywhere, and it is the opinion of Draper that the child has been carried away by some one and that he is still alive in the hands of a kidnaper.

Sheriff Taylor, of this city, is now with the searchers and will now run down the clues that may have been found leading to the belief that the child was stolen. The mysterious man who has been seen at times on the mountain has not been located and a search is now being made for him and his camp.

Word is sent out that there are now too many men on the mountains. The accommodations are not ample for the crowds that are now gathered there. It is decided that it is of but little use to search farther as every foot of ground for miles around the toll-gate has been thoroughly hunted over and now all effort will be directed toward finding a trace of the mysterious stranger or others who may have crossed the mountain about the time the child, was lost.—Pendleton E. ### REPUBLICANS OPEN CAMPAIGN

(Scripps News Association)
Washington, D. C., July 20.—The Republican Congressional Campaign committee is preparing for the opening of the congressional campaign in the various states and congressional campaign headquarters will be opened today in New York and many cities throughout the country. The record of the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress will be used as a campaign document during the campaign this fall.

"The session just closed was one of the most notable since the adoption of the Constitution," said Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota, chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations and vice-chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee. "A vast amount of important legislation was enacted, and Congress responded to nearly every popular demand upon it. I see nothing in the present situation that would justify even a doubt that the Republicans will not control the House in the Sixtieth Congress."

It is generally understood that, according to the plans of the campaign committee the coming campaign will be one of argument and statistics. Among the most prominent campaign orators this fall will be Speaker Cannon, Secretary Shaw, Secretary Taft, Vice President Fairbanks, Senator Beveridge, Representative Hill of Connecticut, and Representative Payne of New York.

the kind that have no real "body"—have no place in our stock. Imitation paint is worse than no paint at all. We have a care in providing paint that fills the wood, preserves it, adds to its appearance and altogether does what an Al paint shop should do.
