ROOSEVELT NEVER IDLE

President Roosevelt makes every minute count. He is even busy when he is being shaved. A deft-fingered negro brings in towel, soap and razors, and waits quietly until the president is ready. The president comes in from his office, takes off his glasses and seats himself in a chair. Very frequently some cabinet officer or favored newspaper correspondent is shown in during the process or asked to stay before it has begun.

Secretary Loeb may come in from the adjoining room with a fountain pen and a document for the president to sign. For a moment the shaving is suspended and the president, undisturbed by lather, leans forward to affix his name.

The story is told in Washington of a governor of one of our insular possessions who, several times, went to the White House to explain a certain matter, and each time he was prevented from so doing because the president monopolized the conversation.

Finally the governor happened to arrive one day just at the time the president was being shaved. The governor was shown right in, and as soon as the manipulations of the razor gave a momentary opening he seized it and never let go until he had explained his wife's case.—The Araonaut.

The number of people who visited La Grande yesterday speaks well for the prosperity of the country, as all seemed to have a few dollars to spend.

The circus is over and no arrests reported. No drunks seen on the streets; many people but little disturbance. Rather a promising report.

It seems to be an assured fact that the stub line from Huntington down the Snake river will be constructed this season.

The railroads are coming to time with reduced passenger rates. Government regulation blesses alike the giver and the receiver.—Ex.

The Boise Typographical union has blacklisted the beer made by a Boise brewing company and swear they will not drink it. But there are several other brands of beer being sold in Boise so the printers will not get very thirsty.

It would be hard to estimate how many people visited this city yesterday. At any rate the merchants, hotelmen, candymen stores, ice cream parlors, liverymen, saloonkeepers and practically every form of business was taxed to the limit in waiting on customers.

Referring to a statement made by Colonel J. Hamilton Lewis that lawyers will be in extinct in 800 years, the Louisville Courier-Journal asks: "If that should prove true, who would wind up the lawsuits now being filed?" Possibly something might be done in the meantime to abate the "appeal on technical error" evil.

The business men of Boise have ordered 25,000 yards of bunting in the irrigation colors—green and white—to be used for decorating the city during the session of the National Irrigation congress which meets at Boise September 3 to 8. With a liberal addition of the national colors the capital of Idaho will certainly present a pleasing welcome to its numerous guests on that occasion.

KILLS CHILD AND SUICIDES

(Scripps News Association)
Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Thomas Kenna, while playing with a three year old child this morning, threw the little one from a fourth story window and leaped after it. Both are dead as a result of the injuries.

TO PROTECT SEALERY

(Scripps News Association)
Washington, Aug. 9.—The President this afternoon telephoned authority to use cutter McCulloch or any other cutter necessary in the protest against Aleutian Islands seal poaching.

A tragic finish

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold, but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at Newlin Drug Co. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
