A WORTHLESS SOUVENIR

Pondmaster Ed Harding is in possession of a souvenir, that is, it seems to be worthless for any other purpose than a souvenir. This is a relic of a hard ride in the hot sun, up one street and down another, over sidewalks and railroads, and calls to mind days of vigilant watching in the discharge of his duties as pondmaster. It is only a bank check. A check given in payment to release fifteen head of horses which Mr. Harding found roaming the streets inside the city limits. The horses belonged to C. C. Frazier, and that gentleman sent his son after them, for which the son made out a check for $15 and signed it C. C. Frazier. When the check was presented this morning at the bank, payment had been stopped. Thus Mr. Harding is in possession of a worthless souvenir.

POETS OF HILGARD

C. N. Lewis, postmaster and storeman of Hilgard has written this office extending an invitation to the editors to come up and hear the new records for his Zonophone. Following is the list of records he has and the way he has them arranged:
"Just before the battle Mother, we were Under the Old Apple Tree looking at The Preacher and the Bear, just then Old Black Joe, came along singing 'I will Magnify the Lord' and seemed to be looking for Sympathy but though, he is from the Holy City He's Nobody's Friend, Not even His Own and not Just My Style for he is always crying 'Central Give Me Back My Dime. The Yankee Doodle Boy is on his way to Dixie Land he will see The Turkey and the Straw and have a Barbecue in Old Kentucky then he will go On an Automobile Honeymoon and visit the Old Folks at Home. How I would like to have Just a Little Rocking Chair and You and Listen to Schubert's Serenade and The Bird and the Brook or if you wish, we will Take a Car and call on My Irish Molly O. Oh We Never Seemed So Far Apart Before for Somebody's Sweetheart I Want to Be and the question is 'Will You Love Me in December As You do in May' I will now say Good Night My Beloved, Good Night and may you Sleep Well Thou Sweet Angel."

THIS FOR MINE EVERY TIME

No more a muddledbrain for mine
I'll call for soda every time
Quench my thirst to my heart's content,
Save cash for clothes as well as rent
Treat my wife and children too
"Smile" with them, and "smile" with you.
All the popular drinks at Hill's soda fountain.
