LA GRANDE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

PROF. DAY, PRINCIPAL.
MRS. DAY, ASSISTANT.

This is one of the best musical institutions in the state, and that people in this city and valley are beginning to discover the advantage of this school. The system is the latest and most practical, and includes all the latest discoveries in the art of teaching music. The school is divided into two departments; No. 1 is for beginners from 5 years or more and are taught the first three grades. Pupils come one hour each day. This is no kindergarten system but far superior. In No. 2 the grades are from 3 to 15. Here they graduate. Pupils take one or two lessons a week as they desire. No scholars will be permitted to remain in this school who do not study.
Opposite the Foley House over the candy store. Phone. 473.

SCHOOL WILL OPEN SEPT. 10

September the tenth is when the school boys and school girls of Union county and the schools of LaGrande will have to leave the pleasures of vacation behind them and take to the books.

In Island City, J. F. Reynolds will be principal. Professor Reynolds comes from North Yakima and has behind him an excellent record as an instructor and principal. His assistants will be Miss Knox, of Weston, Oregon, Mrs. C. I. Couch, of Island City and Miss Kiddle, of Union. About one hundred and twenty-five students will be in attendance on the opening day.

Practically all the schools will open at the time but there are a few which will hold off another week after that date. Schools in the city of Union, Elgin, Island City and this city will begin on that date. County Superintendent E. E. Bragg says that within a few days he will have the full quota of teachers for the county schools and everything will be in readiness for another school year. Prof. Tusker who last year had charge of the Island City schools is now in Elgin and will devote his knowledge of pedagogy to the interest of the school children of that city.

BEWARE OF FOREST FIRES

Now that the season of hunting and fishing is at its zenith, the usual forest fires are beginning to fill the air with their smoke and more than that will destroy much property if the laws regarding forest fires are not enforced. It would be well for the camper, the hunter, the fisherman, or any other individual who is contemplating a trip in the woods to remember that Section 3 of the 1905 laws of Oregon specifically states that the Fire Ranger shall have police powers to arrest any person without warrant who violates any provision of the closed season act.

Below is published the sections relative to the prevention of fire.

Section 4. Laws of 1905. From June 1 to October 1 of each year it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use spark emitting locomotive, logging engine, portable engine, traction engine or stationary engine located in a timber district, without the use of a spark arrester.

Section 5. The period from June 1 to October 1 in each year shall be known as the closed season, during which time it shall be unlawful for any camper, farmer, logger, or other individual, firm or corporation, to set out or cause to be set out, fires in slashings, down or fallen timber, or on timber lands, or in the vicinity of grain fields, without first obtaining a permit in writing or print from the county clerk of his county, and at no time shall any fire be set out when the wind is blowing to such an extent as to cause danger of same getting beyond control of the person setting same out, or without sufficient help present to control the same, and same shall be watched by the person setting the fire until the same is out, and any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine not less than $100 or more than $1000, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than one month or more than a year.

Section 6. Any person who shall build a fire on any lands in this state not his own or under his control, shall, before leaving the same, totally extinguish it, and upon failure to do so, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100) or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one month, or by both fine and imprisonment. Any person who shall negligently set fire on, or assist another to set fire on any land where injury results, or shall wilfully or negligently suffer any fire upon his own land to escape beyond the limits thereof, to the injury of the owner of other land, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand ($1000) dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding one year.

When securing a permit the applicant makes affidavit that he will have a sufficient number of assistants at his command and that he will make every possible effort to avoid a spread of the fire.

MILBURN WIGGETTS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

THE STAGE

Of the stories told at the expense of the late John Stetson, of Boston, there is apparently no end. Most laymen have forgotten the identity of this theatre owner, whose personality was firmly stamped on his friends, but anecdotes concerning him, though credited to other people, continue to be printed from time to time.

Harry Hermesen, who is in "The Royal Chef," who relates a tale which may be unfamiliar.

Stetson employed as manager of the Tremont Theatre, a man whose name was Sharp. This individual had little power, and his wage giver was jealous of that little. One day Stetson hurried into the office of the Tremont with the angry inquiry: "Mr. Sharp, I would like to know who gave you authority to sign your name to announcements concerning this house?" "I never do," replied the man. "You don't, eh?" snarled Stetson. "Well, then, will you please explain to me the sign on the side walk?"

Employer and employe repaired to the curb. There stood a board on which was painted: "Evening performance at 8:30. Matinees at 2 o'clock sharp."

"There!" exclaimed Stetson, triumphantly pointing to the last word on the board, "I should like to know what you call that?"

SHREWD WOMEN DETECTIVES

A good story of how two women from Portland tricked a number of men in this city into making them believe that they (the women) were "good fellows" and secured evidence that may lead to their indictment for violating the prohibition law, is beginning to leak out.

A little over a week ago two buxom women arrived in Eugene on the south-bound train and enquired of persons at the depot as to location of a well-known sporting house. They secured rooms and then began their work. They made the acquaintance of quite a number of men about town, so the story goes, and on several occasions "went the rounds" with them, drinking beer and other "soft drinks" and having a general good time. It now turns out that the women were in the employ of the Anti-Saloon League, or the Law Enforcement League or what ever it is, at Portland, and that they will testify before the grand jury where they got the liquor and who sold it to them. It is needless to say that the women have left the city.—Eugene Guard.
