COUNCIL MEANS BUSINESS

The city council seemingly met for work last evening and when the Mayor's gavel dropped at 12.30 it was demonstrated that they had considered a great deal of business. All were present with the exception of councilmen E. W. Bartlett, who is in Portland, and J. F. Williamson, who was confined to his home.

The petition for a side walk on Jackson St. was referred to the committee. The several officers submitted their monthly reports. The receipts from the water system broke all previous records by over $600, the rents for August were $1,921.

A resolution was passed authorizing the city attorney to take steps to collect the check given by C. G. Frasier as payment on impounded stock, upon which he stopped payment.

The chairman of the special committee made a verbal report stating that they had met for the purpose of investigating rumored charges which had been called to their attention of the misconduct of two city officers. (The result of their findings was published in full on the evening following the meeting.)

At this juncture Mr. Fowler introduced the following resolution which was unanimously passed.

MARSHALL EXONERATED

Whereas—certain charges have heretofore been reported to this council against L. Rayburn, city marshal, charging him with collecting from or requiring to be paid by dissolute women, sums of money not authorized by law or any act of this council or its officers; and whereas, an investigation has been made by the city council and no proof has been offered sustaining such charges, therefore before it resolved that such charges are hereby dismissed and said L. Rayburn be, and he is hereby fully exonerated by this council.

BEAVER CREEK PROJECT

Engineer Pickler was present and stated that the engineering corps now camped on Rock creek and expected to finish the preliminary work of establishing the levels and general topography of the country. This fact had been assured that there are over 600 feet fall from the point where the water will be taken out of Beaver creek to a point above where the ditch is now taken out of Sheep creek that supplies Morgan Lake.

Four ballots were taken in an attempt to elect a city attorney and the matter was passed over to the next meeting. J. B. Eddy, right of way agent of the O. R. & N. Co. being present desired to know what was the intention of the council in reference to the passage of an ordinance which had been introduced to regulate the rate of speed of trains through the city and for the protection of street crossings. Mr. Eddy stated that the company very much desired that no radical action be taken until the improvements now in course of construction were completed and both the city and the company would know to what extent the new arrangements would relieve the Fir street crossing. The council took the same view and promptly killed the ordinance.

An ordinance was passed ordering the improvement of 2nd st. also on S st. and an ordinance making the salary of the street superintendent $75 per month. The La Grande Evening Observer was selected as the Official paper of the city. The office of the City Scavenger was declared vacant and the matter was transferred to the supervisor or the street superintendent. The council adjourned to meet next Tuesday evening for further consideration of the many matters before the body.
