LEAVE NAMES HERE

Have you ever received a letter from your old home in the east asking you to "Tell us about that country?" If you tried to answer it by giving a detailed description of the resources and advantages of this valley, you would have to do nothing but write for a good many days. If you tried to secure literature on the subject you would not find any, for there is nothing of the sort in print.

The OBSERVER is about to issue a special industrial edition that will contain the information your absent friends and relatives desire. Copies can be had for five cents each. Buy a few and help circulate this great advertisement of the valley. The edition will appear next week. Leave your orders now to make sure of getting copies, for there are only a limited number for sale.

THE FAIR

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Grande Ronde Valley Agricultural Association will be held at La Grande, Sept. 25 to 29. There will be $1,500 disbursed in premiums, and the race purses aggregate $4,500.

The event will be "bigger and better than ever before," and will no doubt be well attended.

Among the race features will be trotting races, running races, cowboy relay races and ladies' relay races.

Make your arrangements so as to be able to attend.

John Sharp Williams, the minority leader of the house, has as usual a knife up his sleeve for the "peerless" Bryan. Williams is a plutocratic democrat, and is personally a very wealthy man. He opposes government ownership of railroads or anything else.

Cartoonist Morris of the Spokeman Review, of Spokane, Wash., is justly regarded as one of the leaders in his line in America. His work is strikingly original and in both ideas and execution is second to none. Mr. Morris is a very young man, several years this side of thirty.

La Grande's public schools showed an attendance on the first day of the fall term of 90. More scholars will of course be secured during this week. It is believed that the highest initial attendance in the history of the city.

Help advertise the Grande Ronde Valley by buying a few copies of the OBSERVER's Industrial edition and sending them to distant friends. The paper will appear next week and will cost you only five cents a copy. Leave addresses at this office now.

VERY TRUE

"When we stop to consider what some cities have accomplished and are still doing, under the most unfavorable circumstances, we are at once convinced that Eugene, with all of its boasted progress, is actually behind the procession and is passing up golden opportunities with each fleeting day of its existence."

"No city can build itself up, nor advance solely by its own momentum, any more than can a wagon loaded with the choicest, production of the field and factory, move to market without the motive power that a good stout team applies in completing the mode of transportation. You may load a city up with every natural advantage for becoming a center of influence and power, of commercial, social, intellectual activity, but it will stand still in its gorged condition and die of indigestion, or congestion, if it lacks the pushing public spirited, level-headed citizenship as a regulator and promotor of its progress, keeping the blood action stirring in the channels of trade and commerce and putting it in a position to welcome all kinds of enterprises that makes for its growth and development through added wealth and population."

"The town that sleeps the sleep which knows no waking is stepped over and passed by unseen by the tramp of thousands who are looking for the cities that are alive, up-to-date and keep the torch of progress burning on the highest hill of enterprise to point the busy business man and home seeker to the mecca of his ambition.—Eugene Register.

LA GRANDE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

This is one of the best musical institutions in the state, and that people in this city and valley are beginning to discover the advantage of this school. The system is the latest and most practical, and includes all the latest discoveries in the art of teaching music. The school is divided into two departments; No. 1 is for beginners from 5 years or more and are taught the first three grades. Pupils come one hour each day. This is no kindergarten system but far superior. In No. 2 the grades are from 3 to 15. Here they graduate. Pupils take one or two lessons a week as they desire.
