CULTIVATION OF PEACH TREES

"Peach Growing in Texas" is the subject of bulletin 80, recently issued by the Texas agricultural experiment station, which should be in the hands of every orchardist in the state. It is compiled by E. J. Kile and treats the subject from every possible phase, from the preparation of the land to destroying pests.

Torough cultivation is undoubtedly the most important factor in the successful growing of peaches in Texas.

The San Francisco board of health makes a formal report that 452 persons lost their lives as the result of the earthquake disaster April 18. Of the victims, 226 were killed by falling walls, 177 perished by fire, 7 were shot and 2 died of ptomaine poisoning due to eating "emergency" canned goods of poor quality. The figures given are for deaths proved to have occurred. This does not cover the actual loss of life, probably, as there were doubtless a considerable number of persons who perished in the fires of whom nothing remained to prove their death.

Each subscriber to the Daily and Weekly edition of the OBSERVER will receive a copy of the OBSERVER'S Industrial Edition, and it is hoped that after reading the edition carefully that our readers will think of some friend in the east and send the copy to him. There is much information in this edition which will be appreciated by those who are contemplating a western trip.

With a larger than usual hay crop, a better than expected wheat yield, more beets than ever, the hog market all that could be desired, the price of horses almost out of sight, and lumber continually increasing in value, why shouldn't the citizens of Union county feel prosperous?

The man who does not take advantage of the opportunity now offered to secure a timber claim will find the opportunity gone in a few years. Timber claims to be had at government rates will be a thing of the past in no very great length of time.

La Grande according to the enrollment the first day of school had seven hundred and four pupils and Baker City had sixteen hundred. Figuring on the bases of school children Baker City is considerably larger than La Grande. Never mind, we are growing.

A business man in passing the OBSERVER office this morning remarked that such a day must be consoling to a few over in Wallowa county which by the appearance of the clouds over beyond the Minam suggested a "wet" country.

There is too much American capital invested in Cuba to permit of many months of devastation in the shape of a revolution. It is evident that there will be no more ten year wars in our sister republic.

There is every reason to believe that the county fair will be a great deal more of a success than many have been held to expect. Many farmers have signified their intention of making exhibits.

This rain may interfere somewhat with the grain harvest, but it will certainly cause a great increase in the sugar beet tonnage.

If this weather keeps up a few days longer the high school boys will be doing regular work in the foot ball team.

The new system of spelling is referred to in Kansas as the dehorned system.

We have some new flavors this year which are going to be of universal favor on account of their delicate flavors.
