VICE-PRESIDENT'S SON ELOPES

(Scripps News Association)
Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 11.—A telegram this morning to Mrs. James Scott of this city from Steubenville revealed the elopement of Miss Nellie Scott and Frederick Fairbanks, son of the Vice President. She was one of the most accomplished young women of East-End, a suburb of Pittsburg. The reason as given by Vice President Fairbanks, is that the bride's mother objected to the engagement which was to have been announced this month. The Vice President said he knew they were engaged and that the wedding had been planned for November and could see no reason why they should go to Steubenville to be married. Mrs. Scott affirms that the Fairbanks had objected to the engagement.

making visits to Pittsburg, presumably to visit friends, but the late developments show that she has been preparing for the quiet wedding that was performed in Steubenville today. For two days young Fairbanks has been in Pittsburg but even that was not known until this morning. While here he perfected plans for the elopement.

The couple met last year at the home of a friend in Indianapolis and since then young Fairbanks has been paying much attention to Miss Scott, calling frequently. Warren G. Fairbanks of Chicago was informed by the Scripps News, of his brother's elopement. He said he never heard of a Miss Scott and didn't know his brother had been contemplating marriage. Frederick is twenty-eight.

CLARK'S DAYS NUMBERED

Butte, Mont., Oct. 11.—F. A. Heintz who has returned from New York last night, gave an interview today, which is expected to have a powerful bearing on the politics of the states and will probably result in the retirement from the political arena of Senator Clark. It is announced that he is supporting President Roosevelt and is sending a Republican senator and congressman to Washington to stand by the President in his anti-trust policy. As Heintz's party in Montana is the anti-trust and independent, it is believed that the announcement will determine the political complexion of Montana's campaign and will mean the election of a Republican congressman and senator as a successor to Senator Clark, whose term expired next year.
