AMUSEMENT

PROMISE IT SHALL BE LADY AUDLEY'S ONLY SECRET

One of the season's remarkable record breakers both from a viewpoint of attendance and general satisfaction is claimed to be "A Mad Love" which is announced for Monday Oct. 15 with Miss Marotta Smart, one of our youngest stars of emotional characters recently discovered by Manager Edward R. Salter, and a splendid company of recognized players. "A Mad Love" is a modern version of Miss M. E. Braddon's "Lady Audley's Secret" and has proved one of the most imposing and permanent triumphs in the history of literary endeavor. Being as it is a play that deals with humankind and has for its characters those seen in the daily life it pleases all classes.

PARSIFAL COMING

The more one seeks for the original source of the mythical legend of the Holy Grail, which is the foundation of Richard Wagner's beautiful spectacle of "Parsifal" the more one becomes bewildered at any different explanations that present themselves. Eminent writers and scholars have presented their individual views, arriving at many different conclusions.

They all agree, however, in admitting that the legend, in its various forms, existed long before Christianity became so potent of the world's history. From a close study of the subject one would come to the belief that the legend is practically the same form, but with a different direct meaning, had been created in pagan lands of the earliest antiquity, and later had been adapted by the early Christian church in its mysterious plays and so handed down to us in its present different forms. Certain it is, however, that Wagner must have made a close study of the vast material bearing upon the subject, and in the production of "Parsifal" gives us an idyllic story of composite nature that it is so exquisitely told and contains such a grand moral lesson, that it will live and shine wherever Christianity reigns and as long as Christianity endures.

SOCIETY

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB MEETING

The second meeting of the Neighborhood Club will be held Tuesday Oct. 16 at 2 p. m. As this is the first of the regular programs beginning the year's study of the Bay View course, a full attendance is desired.

Many of the ladies have received their books and the first number of the magazine and are more than pleased with the inviting prospect offered them. All those who have not yet sent for their books may give their orders to Mrs. Turner Oliver or send independently, but are urged to secure their books as soon as possible, that there may be no delay in starting the study with the others. All are asked to read the first sixty-three pages in the English history as preparation for Tuesday's program and the discussion of the same will be led by Mrs. Oliver.

Following is the program:
Roll call Describe a city in the British Isles whose initial letter is the same as your own.
English History Pages 1-63 Discussion Mrs. Oliver
Music Medley of English National Airs Miss Slater
Character sketch, Charles Dickens Mrs. Hill
Song Selected Mrs. E. C. Moore
Paper, England's Capitol Mrs. Cavanna
Talk, Old London and the Royal Family Mrs. Ingle

From two to five o'clock this afternoon an elaborate reception was given at the J. M. Berry home with Mesdames J. M. Berry and F. A. Watts as hostesses. When the guests were ushered into the reception room, which under the direction of Mrs. Grace Barrie had been decorated with Virginia creepers and red, they were received by the hostesses and Mesdames E. F. Parr, M. K. Hall, Chas. Vurpillat, A. L. Richardson, Misses Carmen Stoddard and Mollie Proebstel. Immediately after the arrival of the guests, the serving of a two course luncheon began. The dining room and table decorations were in keeping with the general scheme. This room was profusely dotted with green creepers interwoven with pink ribbon. On the table the same colors were carried out with the addition of white ribbon. The harmony in colors and the taste exhibited by the general arrangement distinguishes Mrs. Grace Barrie as an adept in this line.

Groups of sixteen were served at luncheon by Mesdames Hall, Vurpillat assisted by Misses Carmen Stoddard and Mollie Proebstel. The first course consisted of pink salad served in green peppers; nut sandwiches. The second, creamed coffee; white and pink kisses.

During the reception, at various intervals, vocal solos were rendered by Mesdames A. L. Richardson, T. Sorogins, J. J. Carr and Miss Etta Foley. The Misses Edna and Florence McCall recited and later rendered a piano duet.

Besides the La Grande guests, there were many from Island City.

DR STILL ON FLUX AND DYSENTERY

"Some of my greatest successes have been in this line. One of my earliest cases was a little boy of four, at Macon, Mo. He was trudging along the dusty road with his destitute mother. Taking the little fellow up, I began fumbling along the spine. Some places I found hot, some cold. Going deeper I found rigid and loose places in the muscles and ligaments of the entire back, while the lower spinal muscles and tissues were in a badly congested condition. I worked for a few minutes on that basis and told the mother to report next day. She came the next morning saying that her child was well. Flux was then prevalent in Macon, where I was visiting when this occurred. That mother brought other sick children. As near as I can remember I had seventeen severe cases of flux and cured all without drugs. Other cases of summer and fall diseases I was called to treat and soon found myself burdened with a large practice."
