WHOSE JACKET

Last evening chief of police Rayburn and special officer McLachlin arrested two tough looking specimens charged with stealing a lady's jacket from some one and a jug of whisky from the express office. The jacket was found in one of the resorts in the red-light district where the two men had attempted to sell it, claiming they also had some valuable furs which they had stolen and would dispose of as soon as they could reach Portland, but they would sell the jacket here for a small sum in order to raise "get-a-way" money. The officers were informed of their attempt to sell the jacket to the women and soon had them in the city "iron house." They were found asleep within a dozen feet of the whisky, when arrested, and from their drowsy condition it was evident that they had partaken freely of the contents. The jacket is at this office and the owner may have same by calling.

DYSPEPSIA OFTEN NEEDLESS

Dyspepsia is a thing that many people are afflicted with entirely needlessly. Some ill we must bear with because they are incurable, and probably most ill have a stage at which they are beyond repair but in the average case of dyspepsia such is not the case. Dyspepsia is usually associated with an osteopathic "lesion" of the stomach, bowel or liver nerve centers in the spine which is susceptible to correction. If corrected the patient may and usually does get back as good digestion as he ever had. Then why nurse dyspepsia when by putting your case in the hands of a competent Osteopath you can likely be made well?—Osteopathic Health

Blood Poisoning

BROKE INTO CAR

Philip Edmons, aged twenty-six and hailing from Wisconsin was arraigned this morning before Justice Hough on a charge of burglary. He waived examination and was placed in jail in default of producing the five hundred bond.

He had entered a box car and removed several articles of value. When arrested he still had some of the things on his person and his guilt is almost certain.

HEATING STOVES

It is time to think about heating stoves. I have a nice line to select from, all sizes and prices. If you are thinking of getting a stove call and examine them, and I am sure you will find one that will suit you. My magazine coal heater is a wonder, it is wonderful how it will save coal. Try and you will be convinced.
