AMUSEMENT

HI HENRY EXPLAINS

Says Hi Henry "Now and then some person champions the old style minstrelsy but the masses would not stand a moment for it. They will not tolerate the one man star system, but demand a good all around collection of new modern performers. The fright wig, the stuffed club, the handful of flour, the dummy, the public relegate to the rear: the old regulation vocal quartette must give way to the full chorus, necessitating four times the original number of singers and the old pawn-broker's spike-tail coat must be replaced by the finest, most elaborate brocades. But a few years ago, comparatively, a well known comedian in presenting his monologue called attention to the elegant satin dress suit used for the occasion, the bill reading that the "costume worn would be the finest ever used by any minstrel star." Mr. Henry presents eight comedians all of whom wear satin brocade costumes, each of which is double the value of the one so prominently starred. What would organize and start an old time minstrel show would not pay the summer repairs on Mr. Henry's cars alone. The Hi Henry Big Modern Show will appear at Steward's Opera House on Saturday Oct. 20, and the public can turn their strongest eye glasses on the elegant costumes of Mr. Henry's comedians and on the entire assembly, as well as on the gorgeous scenery and electric effects finer by far than many produced in the grand opera.

It was in the year of 1857 that the immortal Richard Wagner first conceived his idea relating to the grand possibilities contained in the legend of the "Holy Grail" for a wonderful spectacle and drama. It was not until twenty-five years later, namely 1882, that his idea was carried out to his satisfaction and the world was given the glorious work of "Parsifal." It is said that his first intention was to present "Parsifal" simply as a dramatic production, but was induced later to change his mind and produce it in combination music form. By his doing so, the world gained two grand productions instead of one. It will forever remain as the grandest of all music compositions. It will as surely stand for all time as the grandest drama ever written. It requires a trained mind, a cultivated musician, to enjoy the music of Wagner. One must thoroughly understand a thing to equally enjoy it.

HINDOOS SHOVEL DIRT WITH HAND

Grand Forks, N. C. —To find his gang of Hindoos carefully smoothing down the side of a dump on the railway grade with their hands was the sorrowful experience of Fred Lane, a contractor on the Kettle Valley Line railway. Mr. Lane employed a small gang of Hindoos on his contract and was forced to discharge them. In speaking on the subject last evening, he said: "The Hindoos are most willing workers but totally unfit for railway work. They are extremely ignorant of all kinds of manual labor and do not appear to have the physical strength requisite for the work. They invariably start using their hands for work when they should use a shovel, and they do not eat enough of the right kind of food to sustain them. "They absolutely refuse to eat meat and potatoes, but use a kind of baked bread, which they dip in black grease, with which they seem to be well supplied and this bread and grease constitutes their food."
