HILGARD FLASHES

Mr. Bush, a new comer to this part of the country, has opened up a barber shop here.

Mr. F. A. Brown and family who spent the Summer in Fly valley, returned to Hilgard last Sunday.

Miss Breckenridge, who has been on the sick list lately, is now a convalescent.

The Sunday school at Hilgard, has shown good interest and is quite well attended. Come, help us.

Mr. Casey has a crew at work remodeling his dwelling house. The kitchen part caught fire from the heated pipe Tuesday afternoon and the building would have burned had it not been for the timely work of the carpenters and others.

The air compressor of the Pacific Coast Construction Co. west of Hilgard, broke down but will be in operation by Thursday, this week.

Miss Cassie Pyburn, of Hilgard, on the 27th day of October, took the name of Charitan, at La Grande.

The bride and bridegroom just after the knot was tied visited the bridegroom's parents at Kamela, and thus evaded the chivari party at first. The boys would not be outed, so last Saturday the new married couple were made acquainted with a musical medley of cow bells, tin pans, triangles etc. In return for the music thus rendered, the good looking bridegroom sailed forth from his headquarters at his father-in-law's, and gave the boy's a treat of candies, peanuts, and two dollars in cash.

The people of Hilgard wish them a long and happy life together.
