MUSEMENT

All admirers of the chaste in art, all lovers of things beautiful as well as the many well-wishers for the betterment of the stage and the development of its possibilities for the benefit of mankind will without doubt be pleased to learn that the forthcoming production of Wagner's famous mystic drama, "Parsifal" is announced for Thurs. Oct. 25, at the Opera House.

No production that has ever been presented to the American public has been received with such universal commendation and praise that has been accorded "Parsifal" wherever produced. Scholars and artists, press and clergy, theatre goer and church goer, all have joined in acclaiming it the gentlest, sweetest and most gratifying story ever enacted upon the stage. This spontaneous outburst of appreciation is not occasioned, as one would be inclined to imagine, because the play emanated from the brain of one of the greatest geniuses that ever lived.

Richard Wagner. Other great men have written great plays. The cause lies in the fact that the beautiful story told is one that appeals direct to the heart and soul of every man or woman that has a spark of blood in their veins; that every speech and action used in the development of the simple story are so intensely dramatic that one sits absolutely enthralled with their power and expressiveness. Everything and all pertaining to the play is so different from what we have been so long accustomed to witnessing upon the stage, that one almost seems to be in another world while under its magnetic and dramatic influence.

You watch and wait with baited breath, each succeeding action and word of the characters appearing in the play. You do not wish to lose one word or act of the whole spectacle, for each one seems to be weighted with so much significance and relation to the one preceding it that you fear lest you might lose the thread of the thrilling and soul stirring theme and story. It is this intense interest, this absorbing attention, that the play exacts, that holds you spellbound from beginning to end of each of the four acts of this remarkable production.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER

"The Two Roses" will be the first of the two light operas which the famous Stewart Opera company will present at the Opera House during their engagement, which is for two nights, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26 and 27. Of this highly successful comedy opera, which will be seen here with all the costumes, scenery, properties and accessories, the same as during an engagement at the Broadway Theatre in New York City, it will be of interest to our theatre goers to know that the story is a very clever lyric adaption by Stanislaus Stange, of Oliver Goldsmith's delightful comedy "She Stoops to Conquer," which is undoubtedly one of the most popular of the English classics. Comedy of this high class nature, coupled with the beautiful music which Ludwig Engländer has composed for it has entitled "The Two Roses" to hold its place as one of the greatest musical successes of recent years.

On Saturday night Alfred Collier's charming comic opera "Dorothy." The production for this splendid offering is said to be fully as elaborately as that used for "The Two Roses."

CASH FOR PELTS, HIDES AND JUNK

I have opened a junk shop at the Harris corral, one block east of Geddes' store and will pay the highest cash price for hides, pelts, furs and junk. Notify me of junk you have around the yard and I will buy it. Farmers are solicited to bring in their hides and pelts. Give me a trial.
MOSE HARRIS.

UNIVERSITY NEWS NOTES

(Observer Special)
University of Oregon, Oct. 20, 1906.
The seniors will attend assembly in cap and gown hereafter.

The latest thing out in Eugene is a tiny Oregon pennant in the form of a post card.

Miss Pearl Huff has chosen her major study in the department of English literature.

Tom Richardson of Portland addressed the students of the University on Wednesday morning. Choosing for his subject "The Pacific Northwest," he dwelt upon its resources and prospects and concluded with a violent denunciation of the practise of "muckraking" and abusing men of wealth.

Friday night there was a monster football rally on Kincaid Field. All afternoon the Freshmen toiled, constructing an immense pile of wood, which they drenched with tar. In the evening about a hundred rooters paraded the town and then went to the field where they applied the torch. By the light of the fire they executed fancy marches to the music of a bass drum and the firing of a horse pistol. Then in the intervals of singing and yelling, speeches were made by the mayor, the yell leader, the captain, the coach and others.

Skyrocket! Siss! Boom! Ah! Oregon 10: Astoria 0. The first game to be played in Eugene under the revised rules took place today when Astoria Athletic club met its Waterloo on Kincaid Field. In the middle of the first half Moulten kicked a goal from the field and in the last minute of the last half Moores, Oregon's fast end, evaded white bear, the foxy Astoria, and made a touchdown by a thirty yard run. Moulten kicked the goal. Several Freshmen won their emblems in this game. Among them were Zacharius who played until completely exhausted, Obertauffer, who took his place, Gilles and Scott as guards, and Clark at half. George Hug played a faultless game at center. Groat sat on the substitution bench, but did not get to play, as no line man was injured. Next Saturday Oregon meets Idaho at Moscow in the first important game of the season and the real strength of the team will then be more conclusively proved.
