A FINE POULTRY FARM
An Observer correspondent called at the Orchard Grove Poultry Farm the other day and had the pleasure of a personal inspection of the methods employed by Mr. L. P. Day, the proprietor.

He makes a specialty of white and brown Leghorns and Orpingtons. Each breed is kept separate and there is positively no intermingling of breeds.

Persons who desire first class poultry stock, or who delight in seeing fine birds should call upon Mr. Day and see the handsome pure bred stock which he has on exhibition.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTEE OF MERIT.
When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the searchlight of investigation turned fully upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the searchlight of investigation turned fully upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which is in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.
