

AT THE THEATRE SEVEN TO NOTHING IS THE SCORE

WM. G. STEWART, BARITONE

STEWART'S COMPANY FINE

The first performance of a series of two was given last evening by the Stewart Light Opera Company. Following as it did, a heavy drama, the sudden change, was especially pleasing and the first show was deserving of a better crowd than graced the house last evening.

The nature of the company is not the comic opera by any means, but a light opera.

The ability of the chorus as singers was especially noticeable. The rendition of "Two Roses" was good. From beginning to end there are catchy songs, and beautiful stage settings. The tenor has a voice the equal of which is seldom heard in light or comic opera.

The company is deserving of a full house, and the favorable comments that are heard on the streets today will doubtless fill the house tonight.

Tonight "Dorothy" will be presented.

GRAND THEATER—Beach & Bowers, Minstrels.

The large audience which assembled at the Grand theater to witness the entertainment given by Beach & Bowers' minstrels, Thursday night again emphasized that which is a notable characteristic of Salt Lake theater goers, that they will patronize most generously a meritorious performance. The show was a pleasing one thruout. The singing was above the average, while the comedy part was excruciatingly funny.

The Beach & Bowers minstrels comprise an aggregation of whom is an artist within himself. Such artists as George L. Wade, James Stuart, Robert Tipple and others are fun-makers and pleasing entertainers of the highest order. Their performance last night was of that entertaining character the S. R. O. sign will be in evidence the balance of their short season at the Grand.

Beach and Bowers come direct from New York, and is one of the oldest and best all-white minstrel shows now traveling in this country. The old gags which usually constitute the stock in trade of mediocre minstrel companies have been wisely eliminated, and people go away with the pleasing satisfaction that they have witnessed something entirely new, neat and clever.

The PIXIES

Some time ago Supt. Hockenberry made arrangements with W. A. Milne, of Chicago, for three presentations here of his well known operetta "The Pixies." It will be given at Stewart's opera house on Thursday and Saturday nights, Nov. 1 and 3, with a special matinee Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Over two hundred young people will take part, representing pixies, brownies, goblins, insects, pickaninnies, monkeys, fairies, butter flies, pages, flower girls, Amazon guards, Japanese maidens and Yankee Doodle girls, all in special grotesque and beautiful costumes. All rehearsals are in charge of the author, who arrived here last Sunday. He has had twelve years experience in this work covering the larger cities of the east. This is his first trip west of the Rockies, and already the piece has "caught on." It played to nearly $2000 in Bellingham, to $1200 in Aberdeen, and to $1050 in Olympia. It was given recently in Salem and The Dalles to packed houses. The enthusiasm already aroused means a repetition here of the success which everywhere greets the inimitable "Pixies."

It tells the story of the kidnapping of a sleeping fairy by the wicked goblins, a terrific battle between the pixies and goblins, the final defeat of the goblins, the restoration of the stolen fairy, and the wedding festivities of the Prince and Queen. Forty musical numbers will be heard, embracing solos, duets, trios, quartets and choruses. Fifty high school girls will be seen in a number of new drills. But the chief interest centers in the boys who represent pixies, brownies and goblins. Their grotesque make-up, and comical antics are said to be as funny as anything ever seen upon the stage.

POOR FELLOWS

A Nevada editor is in trouble because he recently published an obituary article concerning a man who made a fortune as a promoter of mining interest. The tribute was headed "Death Loves a Shining Mark," but the printer got it "Mining Shark," and three husky sons of the deceased survive him.
