AMUSEMENT

DORA THORNE

A well filled house saw the presentation of Dora Thorne last evening. Many were satisfied with the production, but unfavorable comment has also been heard. Practically every man, woman and child present had read the original Dora Thorne and were disappointed with the meandering from the original plot, that the presentation made. With one exception, that of the sailor boy, who did the killing act, all were creditable actors.

No play in fifty years has attracted the crowds that the thrilling drama of the great character of Sherlock Holmes, in "The Sign of the Four," king of detectives, has drawn to the theaters. Messers Pelton and Smutzer will present Mr. Theodore Lorch, supported by a splendid company in the famous play at the Steward theater Thursday evening, Nov. 22. The production is under the personal direction of Mr. Tom B. Loftus.
