The year of 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brot me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after I had taken four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at Newlin Drug store. Price 50cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

ALASKA-YUKON-PACIFIC NOTES REGARDING SAME

Seattle, Nov. 20—Mrs. F. E. Rader, whose husband is in charge of the United States experiment station at Rampart, Alaska, just one degree south of the arctic circle, was a recent visitor in this city, and told surprising facts regarding the agricultural possibilities of the extreme Northland.

At the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, which is to be held at Seattle in 1909, there will be a most interesting exhibit of the results of Mr. Rader's experiments in the far North. The exposition will show the people that there is more to Alaska than glaciers and iceberg.

"We are experimenting principally with grains in an effort to produce varieties that mature before winter sets in," she said. "The grain seeds we use are hardy varieties from Russia and Finland.

"All hardy vegetables such as carrots, parsnips, rutabagas, potatoes and even peas can be raised successfully. Last year my husband succeeded in raising string beans, and many of the pods were seven inches in length.

"Potatoes are among the most successful crops we have up there. Captain Mayo, who lives at Rampart, has been growing potatoes since 1872."

Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition will cover 250 acres.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition will cost approximately $10,000,000 when the gates are opened in 1909.

Eleven large exhibit palaces will form the main picture of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

SUCCESS WITH ANAEMIAS

When you see a person who has been sound and healthy, suddenly begin to shrink and waste away without other definite indications of disease, it is not unlikely that anemia, in one of its forms, is the cause. The disease represents simply the failure of the vital organs to make from the food a sufficient quantity of good, nourishing blood.

Osteopaths proceed upon the very rational assumption that the body, which has hitherto manufactured within itself a proper supply of good blood, would still be doing so if the process was not being in some way interfered with. They know at the outset just how each organ gets its nerve and blood supply, hence where to look for an obstruction. It is soon found, and the work of correction begins. As it advances, the activities of the body grow more nearly normal, until Nature is finally able to restore natural conditions. The organs at fault, refreshed by their proper nerve supply and blood circulation, get right down to their work again, and the manufacture of good blood in sufficient quantity is once more successfully accomplished. These are the reasons why Osteopathy succeeds in anemia cases almost without exception.
