Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
Never trouble another for what you can do yourself.
Never spend you money before you have it.
Never buy what you do not want because it is cheap; it will be dear to you.
Pride costs us more than hunger, thirst, and cold.
We never repent of having eaten too little.
Nothing is troublesome that we do willingly.
How much pain have cost us the evils that have never happened!
Take things always by the smooth handle.
When angry, count ten before you speak; if very angry, a hundred.

A Des Moines paper suggests for that city the battle cry "Shut up!" "Clean up!" "Loosen up!" Other cities, however, will cling to the old one, "Cough up!"

That the fuel situation in this city is serious is well known. Wood today is selling from $2 to $7.50 a cord, a price entirely out of proportion in a country where wood and coal is as close, as it is to us. Come out to the mass meeting this evening, at the Commercial Club and see if things can be bettered.

Brother Bennett, of The Dalles Optimist, certainly takes the wrong view of the United States Senatorial question, when he says that the verdict of the people regarding their selection of the man to represent them, for naught. His assertion that the members of the Legislature can rightfully disregard their pledged to Statement Number One, is absurd. If the people of this state have no right to select the man who shall represent them, we would like to inquire who has. The people of Oregon have in no uncertain manner made the selection, and the legislator who rides over their expressed wishes, need have no fear of again being called upon to lay aside their private duties to assume public ones. The people have a right to choose and choose they will for there will be a few changes and not a few politicians will be looking over the "Help Wanted" columns. In this state the people are "It" and if they think they would be satisfied with Jonathan Bourne as their representative in the Senate they surely should have the opportunity to test their judgement.

A RECORD IN CABINETS

President Roosevelt's administration is making a record for itself in the matter of cabinet changes. During the coming winter there will be six changes. On March the 4, 1907, the President will have had 26 different men in his cabinet since he succeeded President McKinley. Including those whose selection has been announced the list follows: Secretary of state, John Hay, Elihu Root; secretary of the treasury, Lyman J. Gage, Leslie M. Shaw, George B. Cortelyou; secretary of war, Elihu Root, William H. Taft; secretary of the interior, Ethan A. Hitchcock, James R. Garfield; secretary of the navy, John D. Long, William H. Moody, Chas. J. Bonaparte, Victor L. Metcalf; secretary of agriculture, James Wilson; postmaster general, Chas. Emery Smith, Henry C. Payne, Robert J. Wynne, Geo. B. Cortelyou, Geo. L. Myers; attorney general, Philander C. Knox, William H. Moody, Chas. J. Bonaparte; secretary of commerce and labor, Geo. B. Cortelyou, Victor H. Metcalf, Oscar S. Straus.

It will be noted that Sec. Wilson alone has remained in the same position thruout the administration.

The entrance of Oscar Straus into the cabinet is noteworthy for the reason that he is the first Jew to sit in the cabinet of a president of the United States.

Last year wood to the value of nearly $18,000,000 was used in the manufacture of wood pulp, an industry which has developed rapidly in recent years. This is brought out in a circular just issued by the forest service of the department of agriculture, which shows that within the space of five years there has been an increase of 55% in the amount of wood used for this purpose. Spruce is the wood most utilized, but heavy drafts are also made upon such timber as hemlock, pine, balsam, poplar and cottonwood. Meanwhile, American requirements also draw heavily upon Canadian forests, imports increasing 75% in the last six years. Fortunately, the utilization of slabs for pulp appears to become quite common, yet there remains necessity of conserving in every reasonable way, our timber.

A Delicate Throat

Probably you haven't had any trouble for several months, but you may have now.

Cool nights and snappy mornings may bring unpleasant reminders of a delicate throat.

If you grow hoarse without any apparent reason, if an ugly little hack arises, you need
