Not an arrest nor an incarceration in the city bastle on Thanksgiving. This certainly speaks well for good citizenship.

Those ten prisoners who died at Manila as a result of an experiment with cholera virus, may have known they were dying in a good cause, but that don't excuse those in charge for using virus infected with bubonic plague.

A poet in the New York Sun says of the negro troops, "They followed the flag to glory, and would have followed it to hell." According to the president's idea, it was for following it too far in the latter direction that they got into trouble.

Russia has evidently taken pattern from America in the robbery of the relief funds. The graft in the San Francisco funds was doubtless the tip they attempted to duplicate. It is to be hoped, however, that Russia will set us an example in bringing the thieves to justice.

Land frauds have finally reached Utah and not a few of the prominent men have their reputation at stake and in view of the convictions in Oregon the moment a man is suggested of having been mixed up in a land fraud transaction, the public convicts him in this state long before the case comes to trial.

There were many homes made yesterday as was evidenced by the numerous loads of wood that were delivered to various sections of the city. The present freeze has permitted our local woodmen to get wood out of the adjacent mountains which was impossible prior to the cold snap.

A violent agitation has been caused in New Zealand by the government's effort to enact a law providing that, hereafter, no individual or corporation may own or lease more than 1000 acres of first-class land, or 5000 acres of second-class land and any individual, firm or corporation owning unimproved land exceeding $250,000 in value, must sell all in excess of such value within ten years from passage of the act. This is the most drastic plan which any government has yet sought to enact. It is being sternly resisted by large landholders and other property interests, and yet some of this very class are joining the rest of the public in favoring the plan. If it wins, the result will be watched with the keenest interest.

TO TEACH AGRICULTURE IN SCHOOLS

The Southern educational association will soon take the first step looking to the introduction of agriculture as a part of common school work. It has secured from the university of Tennessee an agreement to establish a chair of agricultural pedagogy, providing the association will furnish the salary of the professors.

Throughout the country attempts in various ways are being made to teach agriculture in some of its many forms as a part of regular school work. These efforts are seriously handicapped, and in many cases nullified, by the lack of teachers fitted to teach this subject in addition to the regular courses required. It is to overcome this defect that the proposed chair of agricultural pedagogy is to be established.

It is first proposed to send the occupant of this chair to places in this country and Europe where agriculture is being taught to children, to study in detail methods used. This is to be followed by the organization of a school in which agriculture will be taught to children in the best manner possible.

When this school has become an established fact, courses will be offered in agricultural pedagogy for teachers, and those who begin this course will be given the opportunity to take part in the instruction in the already established school. Prof. W. J. Spillman, agriculturist of the United States department of agriculture, is deeply interested in this plan. His well-known enthusiasm, and his practical experience in organizing investigation work will give this movement a splendid impetus. The work needs endowment that will bring an annual income of about $3500. The working out of this plan will be watched with keen interest by educators all over the country, including the west.

A Delicate Throat

Probably you haven't had any trouble for several months, but you may have now.

Cool nights and snappy mornings may bring unpleasant reminders of a delicate throat.

If you grow hoarse without any apparent reason, if an ugly little hack arises, you need
