OSTEOPATHY AND ANATOMY

The Osteopath is obliged to be a good anatomist. He cannot practice Osteopathy at all unless he is. He is the fellow, who, when a patient presents himself, goes to work to find out exactly what the trouble is. He looks upon a man as an anatomical structure consisting of a framework of bones, a network of nerves, a tangle of muscles, a web of lymphatic ducts, a complication of ligaments, blood vessels and viscera. To untangle and locate all the multifarious organs and tissues is his business.

He goes to work to heal the sick man much the same as an engineer would fix his locomotive. He finds a nerve crossed or stretched. He finds the muscles tense or strained. He finds bones dislocated, or partly dislocated. He finds cartilages misplaced. He finds a thousand that an average physician would never discover never dream of. Hence it is that the Osteopathist must necessarily be a good anatomist.

As a rule, these doctors carry the study of anatomy much further than the allopath, the eclectic or the homopath. Even the most experienced surgeon knows nothing of anatomy in comparison with the educated Osteopathist.—Medical Talk.

SOCIETY

KAFFE KLATCH FRIDAY NIGHT
Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bartlett and Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Buren will entertain the Kaffe Klatch at the formers' home next Friday evening.

ADJUDGED INSANE

D. Brisco, who last Monday evening went suddenly insane, was yesterday afternoon examined and adjudged insane. He will be held here awaiting the arrival of the Salem asylum attendant who will take him to the state asylum. The demented man is twenty three years of age. During the past night two attendants were constantly with him to care for him. Today he is no better and continues to rave about his mania, religion. He will likely be taken to Salem this evening.

TAKEN TO ENTERPRISE

Sheriff Blakely of Wallowa County this morning removed Jim Sharkey to the Enterprise jail. Sharkey is still in his usual good humor and insists on telling "fish stories" about himself. The seemingly evident prison life startling him in the face, effects him little. The only complaint he has coming is that, as he stated it "leaving a decent jail and county officers for the alfalfas of Wallowa county."

LAYING DRAIN

The contractors for the new round house are engaged in laying the drain from the slump in the center of the railroad yards to the main city sewer. The pipe line is made of fourteen inch piping and is 2450 feet long. It crosses North Fir Street just north of the intersection of that street with the railroad track and runs parallel with the track until it reaches the intersection of Greenwood street with the main track. Here it is to pass under the track and run parallel with the fruit house siding until it reaches the main city sewer near the A. B. C. laundry. Twenty-five men are today engaged in digging the trench and have reached a point near the trench's intersection with North Fir. The pipes have been laid nearly as far as the trench is dug.

The drain, when completed, will furnish an outlet for all water which accumulates on the yards.

SCHOOL CLERKS, ATTENTION

County Clerk Gilham calls the attention of school clerks thruout the county to the laws of Oregon regarding the time when they must file the school tax levy with the county clerk. If these levies are filed as per the law, there will be no trouble in extending them on the tax roll, other wise there will be considerable difficulty in doing so. Following is an extract from Section 3098, which specifies the duties in this matter:

"It shall be the duty of each school district and each incorporated town and city and of each public corporation authorized to levy a tax, to notify, in writing, the county clerk in the county within which the school district, town, city or public corporation is situated of the rate per cent of the tax levy made by it on or before the first day of January in each year, which notice shall be kept on file by the several clerks, and remain a part of the records of the office.

Speakers of repute will also be there. The best local talent in music will be heard during the program. All members of the local lodge may invite one friend, the friend being privileged to bring his family, if he has one. There will be no charge, the entertainment and refreshment being gratis.

HOTEL FOLEY GUESTS IN INTENSE CONFUSION

Inmates of the Foley hotel who were roomed on the first floor last night, were about 12 o'clock thrown into a stage of excitement. Shortly after midnight sleepers on the first floor, were awakened by cries of "Fire." Naturally all rushed to the doors, where clouds of smoke met them. Many grew excited and more screams of fire were emitted. Without dressing the suddenly awakened sleepers rushed into the halls, which were by this time, so full of smoke that it was impossible to see one's hand before him. But the excitement and smoke made it impossible to find an exit and they were soon running into one another. The screams of fire attracted the bell boy from the downstairs office to the first floor and he it was who put an end to the pandemonium which was reigning on that floor.

On reaching the head of the stairs he could see nothing, but with full possession of his thoughts, rushed thru the hall in an endeavor to locate the fire. During his run down the hall he collided with an obstacle, which ultimately proved to be the cause of the commotion.

What he accidentally found was a tin keg, filled with burning hay. It was but the work of a few moments to eject the blazing keg thru a window. The only solution to the peculiar accident is that some individual with an eye for joking, had filled the can with hay, partially covered it, and igniting it on reaching the first floor of the hotel. He must then have made his escape thru a window or fire escape.

One gentleman, who was sleeping on that floor, was awakened by a heavy knocking on his door. The knocks were followed by conversations between three voices, but he was unable to distinguish the owners of them. About a minute later he heard feet scampering down the hall way. The cries of fire followed, presumably from the igniters of the can of hay. Others were awakened by the same cries and the panic was but a few seconds in coming on.

The guests were ultimately quieted, the smoke cleared and all returned to their rooms, badly scared and feeling that some one had carried, what is deemed to be a joke, too far.

EAT YOUR DINNER HERE

It certainly will be as well cooked and served as any you could get at home. It will save your wife a lot of trouble and worry. It will save you considerable money, too. Try it this year, anyway.
