In one respect, this is an ideal season of the year to hold a good roads convention. The roads always being at their worst, the necessity for good roads is apparent, and those most interested should turn out. It is a question, however, who in the community is most interested. When viewed from its broadest side, good roads effect the entire commonwealth.

Every road supervisor in the county should make an effort to attend the Good Roads Convention, which meets in this city on the 19th and 20th of this month. These are the men who expend the county money on the roads and if any new ideas on road building are brought forward at this meeting, and there undoubtedly will be, these are the men who must adopt them and see that they are put into practice.

President Roosevelt is never caught napping. No sooner had he been apprized of the fact that he had been awarded $40,000 for his efforts in concluding peace between Russia and Japan, than he saw a chance of bettering the industrial condition of our country and he immediately put the machinery in motion to bring about the desired end. The people irrespective of party, will make a mistake if they do not make him president for another term. He is certainly the man needed at this time. He is fearless and does what he considers to be his duty. There is no "Mark Hanna" behind this administration. President Roosevelt has lifted the business world to a higher realization of their moral obligations to the general public, than any of his predecessors and the country today honors him for it.

THE FIRST OF ITS KIND.

The Newlin Drug Company, ever alert to the best interests of its patrons, and realizing the imperative need of a public telephone station where shoppers can reach a telephone for the local exchange without cost, have at a considerable expense installed a public telephone at their store. This telephone is for the use of the public and anyone wishing to use this phone is at liberty to do so without charge. The public is invited to use this phone at any time. Another feature which this enterprising firm has inaugurated, is a stamp department where persons wishing stamps in any quantity or any denomination can find them at no additional cost over the government price. When down town call at the Newlin Drug Company's store and see the splendid holiday display.
