Think of it, only eleven more days until Christmas.

A Kansas editor has hit upon the discovery that among the girls of today there are more breadwinners than breadmakers.

The last surviving widow of a Revolutionary soldier has died at the age of 95 years. When she was married to the soldier he was 75 and she was 22 years old.

There are few counties in the state that export more fruit than Union county and we are only in our infancy, compared with the amount that will be exported from this county within the next ten years. There are thousands of young trees now in the valley banked, to be set out in the spring.

It is not every country where the climate conditions are such that brick buildings can be erected in the middle of December. This is a common occurrence in this county every year. At the present time masons are laying brick walls on three different buildings in this city. Measured from any standard, Grande Ronde valley can measure up with any country.

There is no question but what we are entering upon a higher moral standard, as individuals and as a nation. It is high time, for the very reason that if things continued as they have during the past quarter of a century, the basis upon which our republic was founded was beginning to be undermined by the evils of the graft system which so largely entered into nearly every phase of public and private business, large and small and practiced among all classes.

It is astonishing how many people are barely existing in the densely populated East, while Kansas and other great agricultural states of the west and others of the south are praying for skilled and unskilled labor at "good wages." A man who says his idleness is enforced these days is fibbing. It would be well also for every southern and western state to have an immigration bureau for the direction of home-seekers.

FASTIDIOUS WOMEN

consider Factice Toilet Antiseptic a necessity in the hygienic care of the person and for local treatment of feminine ills. As a wash its cleansing, germicidal, deodorizing and healing qualities are extraordinary. For sale at Drugists. Sample free. Address The R. Faxton Co., Boston, Mass.

The Good Roads Convention, which meets in this city on the 19th and 20th should be attended by representative citizens from every portion of the county. Here is an opportunity for the tax payers of this county, in a public manner, to give expression as to their desires as to how the county money should be expended by the county court. Not that the court is not doing its duty, for it is, but nevertheless if some plan as might be suggested at such a meeting as this Good Roads Convention, would meet with general approval, the court would undoubtedly be pleased to follow the wishes of the people, and would forestall possible criticism, which would possibly be forthcoming in the event the court would adopt some similar plan of its own accord. There is always a certain element in every community that is against any and every movement towards progression, that is they are always on hand with a knock but never with a suggestion. There is no question but what the good road movement is of vital importance to this county and this coming convention, if attended, will result in a unity of action that will forth good fruit.

CONGESTION OF THE LIVER.

SHOWING WHAT THE CAUSE OF THE CONDITIONS ARE AND WHY RELIEF AND CURE MAY BE LOOKED FOR THROUGH OSTEOPATHIC TREATMENT.

Too much blood or too little blood in any given part of the body spells trouble. That is what is the matter in nine cases out of ten when you head aches—there is either too much blood there or too little and when the Osteopath treats your headache he simply takes the proper measures to regulate the blood flow properly.

A case of congestion of the liver is, in a general way, much the same. Congestion simply means over fullness—that's all. In the case of your liver it means that that organ is getting more than its share of blood through the arteries or else that other blood vessels are failing to drain the used blood away with due speed.

But of course no such condition could exist without a cause. And the Osteopath does the rational thing when he proceeds to look for that cause. He seeks for it in the structures of the body, for his training has taught him and convinced him that in the structures the causes of disease are to be found. He surmises in the first place that there is something wrong with the vaso-motor nerves, for these are the nerves that control the work of the blood-vessels and if they were not being interfered with in their work the blood flow would be normal. There may be an actual organic adjustment of the trouble may be that contracted muscles are interfering with the work of the vessels and their controlling nerves.

Whatever the specific difficulty may be in the individual case, the Osteopath is qualified to find and correct it. Sometimes the results he secures are surprisingly quick, sometimes more time is required. He removes the cause of the cause of the trouble and at the same time gives a thorough mechanical stimulation so that the effect of the liver's suffering may be done away with as speedily as possible. For congestion of the liver there is nothing that can at all compare with the treatment.

It is an old saying that "if your liver is right you are right" and while that is of course a great deal of exaggeration there is more than a grain of truth in it. Any liver trouble merits immediate attention and the best and most natural attention which it can be given is through Osteopathy.—Right Way.
