

"Happy Weeks"

We announce the Merriest, Jolliest,

Most enjoyable Occasion of the Year To open Monday at 9 a. m.

If there is anyone within one hundred miles of this store who feels blue—they should come here—to be made happy. We're going to hold a "Happy Weeks"—a sale that is pleasantly unlike any sale event you've ever known. You smile at the name—and the idea—already. You'll smile for a very different reason within thirty seconds from the time you enter our doors. How will we do this? How do we expect to send hundreds and thousands of people away smiling? Very simply—and effectually—by selling to each visitor during "Happy Weeks", one or more needed articles for prices that will insure so much real and unusual saving that the merriest kind of a smile will be the natural and sure result. All broken lines—all short lots—will be gathered together—every garment—every yard of goods, every bit of merchandise thus assembled will be worth every penny it was the day before "Happy Weeks" struck this store—and the whole store will turn into the biggest kind of a bargain bazaar. This will continue for weeks as the bargain lines become still shorter, new "specials" will be added, that the jollity of the sale may continue until the last moment of the sale has passed away, and "Happy Weeks" is only a memory—to be recalled, talked about, and smiled at for a year to come. Come and have a good time—we promise that you will smile as broadly and enjoyably as will every friend you meet here—and even every single member of our salesforce who will wait on you. "Happy Weeks" begins at 9 o'clock Monday Morning Next, January 7, 1907, and continues for weeks.

AMUSEMENT

AT CRIPPLE CREEK

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted "At Cripple Creek" at the Grand last night and no doubt the engagement will prove as successful as last season, which means the capacity of that playhouse at each performance. E. J. Carpenter has in "At Cripple Creek" a real thriller, and he has taken keen sense of dramatic proportion. Several types new to the stage are introduced and clever character drawing is one of the commendable features of the play. Both play and production are meritorious and is unusually well staged and capably acted. "At Cripple Creek" is in all respects superior to the class of plays we are accustomed to at the Grand, and a large week's business should be the result. Actors have seldom received a heartier welcome than that accorded the cast last night, and the picturesqueness of the scenery, the quaintness of the characters and the general atmosphere of romance, all tend to closely hold the attention of the auditor, and the four acts of the play move along too quickly.—Salt Lake Republican.

MUSICAL COMEDY

It has always been conceded that Anna Hold's "The Little Duchess" was the most expensive musical comedy production in years. In fact, in point of actual outlay, nothing has yet been done that surpasses it. This season, unless Olga von Hatzfeldt is starring with the Hold production in its entirety, and if the critics of other cities may be believed, it is one of the liveliest and girliest shows seen in a number of years. The company numbers fifty, and contains an array of youth talent and beauty that would be hard to duplicate. This attraction will appear at the Steward's Opera house Thursday Jan. 10.

ANNUAL MEETING
