

AMUSEMENT

HIGH CLASS MUSIC

La Grande, or rather those of its citizens who went to the Commercial Club last night, have heard some real music.

The Palmatier concert opened with a burst of music, that made the audience sit up and take notice. No sooner had the applause for the opening number ceased, than the orchestra more firmly clinched the admiration of the listeners by a beautiful overture, the equal of which has not been heard in this city for many a day. So on down the program. Each number was as good or better than the first.

The concert ended with a thrilling rendition of the popular air "American Volunteers."

Following the concert, dancing began. After the first strains of the opening waltz, it was evident that the Palmatier Sisters are as proficient in rendering dancing music as they had proven themselves to be with overtures, marches and solos. There is nothing but praise to offer about the entire concert and dancing music.

A CAREFUL READER

A short time ago in the foyer of a Southern hotel in a city, where Miss Helen Byron was playing an engagement in "Sergeant Kitty," while the little lady was waiting for her baggage, in a corner to the theatre she was approached by a nice looking gentlemanly fellow of about 25, carrying copies of "On a Slow Train in Arkansas" and "Six Hopes and a Joke Book" under his arm. Duffing this bit, the young man said with a twinkling apologetic air: "I trust Miss Byron you will not take offense at my addressing you but I'm a commercial traveler and have enjoyed your Sergeant Kitty several times. I noticed today in the train that you seem to be a constant reader." Miss Byron evidently began to show that she would like him to come to a point for he hurriedly said: "Here's a couple of books I thought you'd like, they're full of jokes." "Jokes," said Miss Byron, "I never could see anything in anyone ever printed, jokes are not in my category." "Why," said the young man with evident surprise "You say a lot of real funny things in Sergeant Kitty." "I'm glad you like them, said Miss B., "but those lines were written for me and I speak them as an artist and endeavor to get the effect the author intended, that's acting, but as for a joke, I never met one in my life". The young man who confused was not discouraged for he continued: "Well if you don't like this sort of books what kind do you read?" "At present" said Miss Byron, "I am reading John Bunyan," Stewards Opera House Tonight.

PRESIDENT READY FOR COMMITTEE

(Scripps News Association)

Washington, Feb. 2.—President Roosevelt and Attorney General Bonaparte are preparing their case to present to the California school officials when that body arrives in Washington to confer with the President in regard to the Japanese exclusion question. The executive maintains that the board of education in San Francisco did not act within the law of the state in passing a resolution of exclusion. It appears that the board acted under section 1662, civil code of California, which empowers the board to exclude "Mongolian" children. The executive claims that Japanese are not Mongolians but members of the Malay race.

SENATOR SAYS IT'S RIDICULOUS

Washington, Feb. 2.—"I would like to go to war with Senator Perkins and others from the Pacific coast, who are making a mountain out of a mole hill," said Senator Callom, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. "We are not on the eve of serious trouble with any nation," he continued. "We should attend to our own business and quit talking about war. It is the continual talk about trouble that brings it. It is ridiculous to imagine that two great nations should engage in war over such trivial matters as the case in issue regarding the San Francisco schools."

The administration is greatly displeased with the speech that Senator Perkins made last night. It feels that such discussions might cause embarrassment in the present negotiations.

WISE COUNSEL FROM THE SOUTH

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lumbago and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking a few more bottles, I was completely cured, so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at Newlin drug store. Price 50c.

HOW TO AVOID PNEUMONIA

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough but breaks and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. G. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case."
