STEFFENS WILL COME

San Francisco, Feb 25-Lincoln Steffens, who has contributed political articles to leading magazines for the past few years announced to day that after a visit to Sacramento, where he will go Wednesday, he will visit the states of Washington Oregon and Utah to investigate political and civic conditions. He has completed an investigation into the local situation and says that the relations of graft in the general sense to political conditions in this city offers a condition of politics which can be found no where in the states.

When Senator C M LaFoliette, then governor, of Wisconsin introduced his AMBASSADOR BRYCE AT WASHINGTON railroads measures. Lincoln Steffen's contributed to the "Success magaznie a scathing article against the government. and his system. This article, more than any other subsequeb; one, placed Steffens on a high rank among political critics.

The eight annual ball given by the annals of social history in La Grande, and truly it deserves the front page of the figurative book. About nine o'clock the guests began to arrive. Those who came first had time to properly study and admire the decorations, the semetry and taste of which being of so high a grade, that seldom if ever has the Commercial Club auditorium been attired in so catchy a costume. The first noticeable feature of the entire scheme was its simplicity, As the guests entered, the attention was immediately called to the monster Elk's branching antiers that reared with as much kingly poise as did that anima! which originally bore them thru the forests and hall. over the hills. At the tips of each horn was a tiny incandescent lamp. From the Elk's head, the eye would naturally drift to the balcony where a bank of fir branches encased a life size painting of the martyred President Wm. McKinley. Midway between the floor and ceiling. was a wainscoting, as it were, of fir branches about two feet in width. This continued around the entire wall. Directly above the fir, was a wide white buntng and directly below it a blue streamer of bunting of the same width as the upper. Dir. ctly below the mirrors. hemisphere-like, arrangements of white and blue bunting caught at the lowest point by a white ribbon that was in turn attached to the lower streamer. On the stand where the orchestra usually sits, fir trees were arranged to imitate a forest. Three elks were in hiding behind these. and but for the protruding antiers, their presence would never be known. This was perhaps the prettiest part of the entire scheme. Below this figurative forest the motto of the Elks' lodge, "We write the faults of our brothers on the sands, but their virtues on the tablets of love and memory" in the provised alcove which is used on special occasions, sat the orchestra. With those in the rear, sitting on a dais, every note could be clearly heard. It consisted of ten pieces and those who are unprejudiced critics say that the equal has not been heard in La Grande for several years.

To the left of the entrance was a refreshment stand, while in the corresponding corner was a tiny rest corner, coxily arranged with loads of pillows and Indian blankets. From a rosette of small flags in the center of the ceiling were hung streamers of the white and blue bunting, to the four corners and the center of the sides. When the dancers and orchestra would be resting, ten canaries, swinging in their cages from the ceil ing, would take up the strains still echoing from the music-making alcove, and their warble was a novel and inspiring feature of the decorative scheme.

More than a hundred guests danced. At midnight the guests repaired to the Foley Hotel where an elaborate dinner was in waiting. While many were exstance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey the train withheld them. The out of and Tar has been taken. It not only stops town guests who attended were: E. W. and Tar has been taken. It notonly stops town guests who attended were; E. W. the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs. Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both mental women, are thin, pase and puny, with poor circulation, because they have illitreated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a majoral way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thus blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and last long. The demans for nouritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain health every tessue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Gondon Senl root, Queen's root. Stene root, Bloodirot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherrybark. The medicinal principles residing in these mative roots when extracted with giverine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favoratic effect of this savereign remedy. Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure givestine as a solvent and usually the disctors' prescriptions called for the increase in varying amounts, e dectors' prescriptions called to decuts in varying amounts,

The Golden Medical Discovery" is a leattle preparation compounded of the years extra to of the neave mentioned spetable agreements and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.
