AMUSEMENT

STETSON'S "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

The coming of Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" on Saturday, March 2 to the Steward's opera house reminds the writer of the firm hold songs, as well as the old play, as on public favor. It also recalls an incident. It was in a hotel parlor. A brilliant pianist had just rendered one of Wagner's most difficult pieces and a murmur of wellbred applause had followed. Then, very softly and tenderly, like a sweetly tremulous old voice reciting pathetic memories, the ivory keys sent the plaintive melody of "My Old Kentucky Home" sighing through the room. The idle chatter ceased. Every mind was busy with bitter-sweet memories and the air filled with the scent of vanished glory, the warm fragrance of new-mown hay and the echo of babbling brooks. The simple tune knocked at the door of every heart and the ghosts of dead days came trooping forth in answer.

An almost forgotten poet, Robert Hinckley Messenger, quaintly wished for "old wood to burn, old books to read and old friends to talk with." He might have added—old songs to sing and old tunes to be played in the long twilight, while he dozed and dreamed in his easy chair. It is a fact that none of the popular songs of late years survive a "May fly's" existence. They catch the lip but do not hold the heart for, unlike the old tunes, they have been written to catch the passing fancy—they are not birthmarked with the joys and woes of human race. So, too, is it with the old plays, and certain it is that no story—between boards, or on the boards will ever take so lasting a hold on the American public as Harriet Beecher Stowe unrivalled sketch of incidents during an epoch that will always mark United States history.

FAST MAIL

The gallery boys will be in their glory on Wednesday March 6 when Lincoln J. Carter's great scenic production, "The Fast Mail" opens at Steward's Opera house. A carload of new scenery is carried and a clever acting company has been engaged. Bright specialties are introduced during the play.

THURSDAY NIGHT

Manager Noyes announces that the mid-week dancing and skating party for this week will be held on Thursday evening. Prices and music will be the same as previous occasions. The public is invited.

HOW TO AVOID PNEUMONIA

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case."
