GREATEST LUMBER CUT

More lumber was cut in the United States last year than in any year in its history. The enormous amount of 37,559,736 board feet was produced, and the mill value of this was $621,151,388. In addition, there were produced 11,558,560,000 shingles, valued at $24,155,555, and 3,812,807,000 lath, valued at $11,490,570. On the whole, it is safe to say that the present annual lumber cut of the United States approximates 40 billion feet, and that the total mill value of the lumber, lath and shingles each year produced is not less than $700,000,000. These figures give some idea of how vast is the lumber industry and how great is the demand for its products.

A glance at the map of lumber produced shows very clearly the passing of white pine and oak, and the greatest soft wood and the other the greatest hard wood which the forest has ever grown. Since 1859 the cut of white pine has fallen off more than 40 per cent, while that of white oak has fallen off more than 36 per cent. Today yellow pine leads all other woods in amount cut, while Douglas fir—and this will be a surprise to many—comes second. Since 1899 the cut of Douglas fir has increased 186 per cent. Louisiana is the foremost yellow pine state, with Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas following in order. Washington produces by far the greatest amount of Douglas fir.

PECK'S BAD BOY

Before George W. Peck was elected governor of Wisconsin, he had achieved national fame as the author of "Peck's Bad Boy," a series of sketches written with admirable fidelity to life, and under his sanction largely incorporated in the farce comedy of the same name, announced for presentation at the Steward on Thursday, February 13.

The entertainment has attained a fame and popularity almost, if not quite rivaling that of the author of its inspiration and everywhere has won a most enviable patronage in every respect.
