SCOTT HERE MONDAY EVE

Monday night is going to be an important date in the La Grande Odd Fellow circles, as that is the date upon which Grand Master Richard Scott of Portland, is to officially visit the lodge here.

The grand master is slated for an address and it is to be heard by representatives of every lodge in the city, if invitations extended are accepted, which they no doubt will be. The Odd Fellows of La Grande will be out in force, and augmented by other lodge representatives, the visiting Odd Fellow should face a large crowd.

At the close of the address, a banquet of considerable elaborateness is to be given. Committees are working on these lines now.

NON-SECTARIAN MAGAZINE.

Illustrated Monthly on Religion to be Published at Pendleton.

Pendleton is to have the best all round non-sectarian and non-partisan illustrated religious paper in the state, says the Pendleton Tribune.

For some 10 years "Essential Christianity" has been published with marked results and doing great good wherever it has been issued. It stands now in the newspaper directory of America as one of the best mediums of this nature in the land. It will be issued in Pendleton beginning with March and containing as it does four pages of solid illustrated matter upon the best stock purchasable and printed in good sized type, and filled with that which is always interesting, it will be something of which Pendleton can feel proud.

There will be two pages of solid editorial matter each issue. This editorial matter will be absolutely non-sectarian and non-partisan.

In Great Falls, Mont., this paper reached an issue of 2000 each issue for two years. In Moscow, Idaho, it was issued for three years without any abatement. In Lewiston, Idaho, it was issued for two years with great success.

There will be many thousands of copies sent through the mail for many issues to reach every home in Pendleton and Umatilla county, and each copy will have a one cent stamp upon it, and a copy for each home. This is done in order that every home may discover just what the paper is, and that a subscription list may be secured which will enable special postage rates to be obtained as soon as possible. It never reaches less than 1000 readers from the very first issue, being printed upon first-class stock, illustrated as the Rams Horn has always been illustrated with the very best, and having lively, brisk, up-to-date editorials, short and crisp, and upon themes which all are interested in and all will be glad to read. It always succeeds. The aim of this paper will be to increase the spirit of brotherhood among all men between all the denominations and between all men in the business and professional world.

The Jumping Off Place.
