Money Supports the Home

and it needs a steady influx of it to maintain the household and keep it going. To be sure of that steady flow of money, it is the best plan to bank the savings so that you will know where to reach them in time of need. For "rainy days" come to the thirteenth of us at times, and it is well for us if they find us prepared. Bank your surplus cash with us now, and you will have the pleasure of knowing that it is not only secure, but earning good interest.

SAYS VOTE FOR IT

The following communication was received by the Herald from L. L. Swift, a Baker county boy, who is attending the state university:

Next June at the polls is to be settled the question as to whether or not Oregon is to have in the future a state university worthy of the name. At its last session the Oregon legislature passed a bill appropriating $125,000 "for the support and maintenance of the University of Oregon." A referendum was invoked on the bill, so it will not become a law until it is approved by the majority of the voters at the regular election on June 1, 1908. Is $125,000 too large an appropriation for the state university? Washington appropriates $500,000 a year for the maintenance of her state university; Idaho, $129,150; Colorado, $515,000; Nevada, $125,000; California $822,148. Oregon now makes an appropriation of $40,000, the smallest sum of any state in the union, although eight states have less population, and nine have less wealth. Special appropriations augmented this sum to $80,000 during the years 1905-06, but this sum was inadequate for the pressing needs of the university. Its funds fell short by $15,000 of meeting the current expenses of the past year, which deficit has been averted only by the faculty serving three months without pay.

Oregon is justly proud of her elementary educational system. She also has 24 four-year high schools and a total of 120 institutions devoted to secondary education. But it must be remembered that the university is a part of the public school educational system. The states that are supporting their universities most liberally are the ones that have the strongest systems of public schools, as for example, California, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. A strong university is absolutely essential to a strong public school system, for the university is nothing more nor less than the head of the state's public schools.

If the $125,000 appropriation is not passed, what will be the result? The young men and women who wish to fit themselves for professional life, or for more efficient leadership in business, will be compelled to go to other states for their higher education, and break their ties with Oregon for several years, perhaps for life. Newcomers will look elsewhere for their higher education. The middle west and the east will regard Oregon as a backward, uninviting country, and westward migration will invest its money in other states. Take away the state university and Oregon will receive a checking blow not only to education, but also to industrial welfare and progress.

The appropriation asked for is the lowest possible to meet the urgent demands of the university. It is only one-fourth of Washington's annual appropriation and less than Idaho's. At the present valuation of the taxable property in this state, it calls for a tax of less than 25 cents on every $1000.

The way to settle the question is to vote "yes" on the first of June to the measure worded on the ballot thus: "Shall the appropriation become a law?"

"Maple Day" in Baker.
This city is preparing to observe a day early in April, which shall be known as Maple day, and on this date about 1000 maple trees will be set out in Baker City. The matter was first brought up by Prof. J. A. Churchill, upon his return from the east last fall, where, he says, splendid work has been done. He took the matter before the school board and they voted to purchase 300 trees to be placed in the grounds of the public school buildings.—Baker City Herald.

For Circuit Judge.
I hereby announce myself a candidate for nomination on the democratic ticket for the office of circuit judge of the Tenth Judicial district, comprising Union and Wallowa counties, at the primary election to be held on April 17, 1908. If nominated and elected I will use my best endeavors to administer the business of the circuit court in both counties of the district impartially, speedily and economically.
