STEWARD'S ATTRACTION

Charles B. Hanford and his manager, F. L. Walker, have been devoting many months to the preparation of the forthcoming spectacular production of "Antony and Cleopatra," which will be seen on Monday, March 23, at Steward's opera house. The play has been the admiration of players, public and critics alike. Cleopatra, a supreme figure in the historic events of her day, has remained through centuries the inspiration of genius. The library, the picture gallery and the stage continue to reflect her marvelous personality. In order to give an adequate representation of this play it is necessary to greatly expand even the large equipment Mr. Hanford has been accustomed to carry. A special corps de ballet accompanied by a premiere danseuse of rare grace and accomplishments, will add picturesqueness and at the same time realism to the reveries with which the Egyptian queen was wont to entertain the mighty Roman conqueror who became her willing captive. The element of music has not been neglected, a special director being in charge of orchestra and chorus. One of the most important of many gorgeous stage pictures will be that which reveals Cleopatra's barge in all its magnificence. It is confidently asserted by all who have seen this production that utterly eclipses anything with which Mr. Hanford, in all his splendid experience as a star and a producer of plays, has been identified. The role of Cleopatra is interpreted by Miss Alice Wilson, who during her American experience, for she is an English woman, has been in support of such noted players as Nat Goodwin, Otis Skinner, Charles Hawtrey and Viola Allen.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.
 "Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. A. T. Hill.
