WILL GO TO HIGH COURT

Upholding the validity of the initiative referendum amendment to the state constitution, Presiding Judge J. E. Cleland, in the state circuit court this morning, sustained the demurrer filed by the state attorney general to the answer of the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company, in which the attack upon the initiative and referendum was made.

In accordance with a prearranged plan, formed for the purpose of bringing the test case into the supreme court of the United States at the earliest possible moment, the questions involved were submitted this morning without argument, as it was considered the local circuit court would be bound by the decision of the state supreme court in the case of Kaderly vs. Portland. Judge Cleland at once sustained the demurrer and Attorney Harrison Allen, for the telephone company, gave notice of appeal to the state supreme court.

Incidentally with sustaining the demurrer, Judge Cleland, at the request of Attorney General Crawford, directed that judgment be entered in favor of the state for $10,450, this being the amount for which suit was brought. It is alleged that the telephone company owes the state this amount under the 2 per cent gross earnings' tax act, passed by the people in 1906. When the attorney general brought suit to enforce the payment of the tax the telephone company filed an elaborate answer, attacking the initiative and referendum, under which the gross earnings tax act was adopted.—Telegram.
