YOUR WORK

Is what we want. We don't call on you one week for it and tell you the next we cannot do it for you. We want it now, and all the time. We do not think it necessary at this time to say anything about the class of work we turn out. The fact that we have been in the LAUNDRY business for twelve years in La Grande we think sufficient evidence that our work is satisfactory. Try it.

BARGE SCENE GIVEN BY THE HANFORD ATTRACTION

Barge scene given
A novel and extraordinary departure has been made by Charles B. Hanford in his magnificent spectacular revival of "Antony and Cleopatra," which will be displayed on Monday, March 23, at Steward's opera house. No play in all the classics affords greater opportunity for luxurious embellishment. One incident alone of Cleopatra's career, her appearance on the river Nile in a jeweled, silken-sailed barge, has afforded one of the most tempting themes known to painter or poet. The Hanford production introduces the barge scene with both pictorial and dramatic effect. The exhibitions of authentic representation of some of the most celebrated and resplendent architecture of ancient Egypt are made realistic and convincing by every artifice which scene painter and electrician can command. A series of moving and still pictures is employed during the opening overture in order to give atmosphere to the first scene. These pictures are so arranged that the spectator seems to be making the journey along the Nile to the place where the action of the play begins. It is a remarkable device and one never before employed with such forceful and legitimate dramatic effect.

The scenery for this production was painted by M. Arnbruster, the celebrated German-American artist, whose studies of Shakespearean subjects have made him world-famous. The dances were arranged by M. F. Trotter of Cleveland, O., whose record for presenting great and intricate ensemble effects is unsurpassed. A corps de ballet led by a premiere of conceded eminence in her art, appears in the scenes representing the lavish entertainment with which Cleopatra was wont to beguile the senses of her Roman lover. The lighting effects will be under the direction of the company's own electrician, and a leader traveling with the organization will be in charge of the house orchestra. F. Lawrence Walker, manager of the Hanford company, arrived in the city yesterday to look after the preliminary arrangements for this production.

The role of Marc Antony is, of course, assumed by Charles B. Hanford. His success in it this season is, in a sense, a continuation of his triumph in portraying the same historic personage in "Julius Caesar" the year previous. Miss Alice Wilson has a part befitting her distinguished talents in Cleopatra. The company includes most of the favorites who have been appearing in Mr. Hanford's support from season to season and in addition there are new members who have speedily won places for themselves in popular confidence.

EXCURSIONS FOR HERMISTON.

Hermiston Commercial Club Asks for Special Trains.

That the thriving town of Hermiston should have Sunday excursion trains over the O. R. & N. from both east and west every Sunday during the spring and summer season, is the wish of Hermiston Commercial association and plans for such excursion are now being discussed with the O. R. & N. officials.

It is the desire of Hermiston to give every person interested in the town and its surrounding country an opportunity to visit that place during the spring and summer and regular Sunday excursions over the O. R. & N. have been asked for and the prospects that such will be granted are now very good.

A reduced rate will be secured and the excursions will be made regular features. Hermiston will entertain the excursionists by showing them over the irrigation project, which is now nearing completion and by telling them of the unsurpassed opportunities of the Hermiston country.

It is proposed to have the excursion start from The Dalles, Baker City, Walla Walla, Pendleton and other points and everything will be done to make them attractive and entertaining.
