

George Washington

UNTIL every generation of Americans George Washington is justly held to be the purest figure in history—a superb example of the perfect citizen—a just and righteous ruler and “a light for after time.”

This commanding personality had a magnificent physique. He stood over six feet in his stockings, was remarkable for horsemanship, agility and strength—the finest gentleman and athlete of his day.

His constitution was of iron and he knew how to keep it so. His biographers declare that in eating and in drinking as in all things he was normal; enjoying the juice of the malt all the days of his life. He drank it around campfires, as well as in his own home and upon social and state occasions.

Furthermore, upon his Mount Vernon plantation he had a brew house, as was the regular custom of wealthy Virginians.

Budweiser

IT shines like liquid gold—it sparkles like amber dew—it quickens with life—a right lusty beer—brewed conscientiously for over fifty years from barley and hops only.

It prolongs youth and preserves physical charm—giving strength to muscle, mind and bone—a right royal beverage for the home.

MARRIED IN PUBLIC

There is going to be a real public wedding in La Grande. It is to take place on the day of the big horse show and market day in this city, April 18. Max Zimmerman announces he has the love-sick pair and the entire city will do doubt be out to see the big event.

In addition to all the attractions of the horse show, the market day is to be something grand. Mr. Zimmerman wishes publicity of the fact that the horse buyers are to be here, but the armers and ranchers must bring in the best they have for sale. Buyers from Portland and the big cities are not going to spend money on inferior grades of horses. The horse show will naturally bring out the best here is and every big horse buyer on the coast is arranging his date so as to be here on that day. Full particulars of the horse show and market day program will be made later. Remember the date.

WATER SUIT NEARING END

The long drawn out and extremely tedious water suits conducted at the county court house before Referee Hanna for the past several weeks, are nearing the end. Today, after a short recess, the testimony was again resumed when the La Grande Irrigation company presented its first testimony. Aside from this one, there are only two defendants left: the May Park Water company and the May Park Ditch company. When the testimony for these two firms and the one now under hearing, are introduced, the record-breaking hearing will come to an end. The attorneys in the case are weary with their task. Day after day, the hearing has been going on and naturally much of the testimony is rehash. However, the students of Blackstone have a little enjoyment. When temporary recesses are taken, attorneys and spectators are grilled on statement No. 1 and other topics and questions of much magnitude.
