PARADE MONSTER AFFAIR MASS MEETING ARRANGED on entertainment was visited, but only a few could be cared for.

"What will happen when 6000 sailors come ashore tonight?" asked the men, and the committee could not answer.

The committee had arranged for the entertainment of visitors and have ample accommodations for them, but had not realized the fact that many sailors of the fleet would also wish to remain ashore over night and had made no plans for them.

After the parade had passed the reviewing stand and had taken their allotted space in the park, the formal ceremonies began with the presentation of a jeweled key to the city to Admiral Thomas, including the sword and medals. Governor Gillette welcomed the fleet, and was replied to by Admiral Thomas in a brief address. Admiral Thomas expressed his pleasure at being back in "God's country," and sorrow that Admiral Evans was not present personally to receive the warm greetings of the city and state.

less men working in harmony and for a definite purpose, couldn't land a number of payrolls in this city before the snow flies next winter? Of course they can. All that is necessary is to have the date announced; there will be a sufficient number of business men on hand to perfect the organization. We need it, and our business men realize the need of it, and we will have it.

Fight on Bryan in Maine.

Saco, Me., April 15.—A fight between the adherents of Bryan and those favoring an un instructed delegation to the Denver convention has developed among the delegates to the First congressional district democratic convention, which was called to order in the city hall at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Present appearances indicate a victory for the anti-Bryanites. Two regular district delegates and one delegate at large will be selected by the convention.

BOISE MEN INDICTED

The federal grand jury reported to Judge Deitrich that it had completed its work shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. Four indictments were returned for alleged timber fraud in the Boise basin against James T. Barber, Sumner G. Moon, Frank Martin and Albert E. Palmer, says the Boise News of Tuesday. The bail of the defendant Martin was fixed at $2500, on his own recognizance and each of the other defendants at $5000 with sufficient securities. An order to this effect was given to the clerk of the court by Judge Deitrich immediately after the indictments were returned to the court.

The defendants are indicted for conspiracy to defraud the United States and for violation of section 5440 of the statutes. They are charged with unlawfully conspiring, combining, confederating and agreeing together, and with Frank Steunenberg, William Sweet, John Kinkaid, Louis M. Pritchard, John I. Wells, Patrick Downs and divers other persons whose names are unknown to the grand jury. They are further charged with knowingly, wickedly, falsely and corruptly defrauding the United States out of large tracts of timber lands east of Boise, in the county of Boise.

Four counts were returned against the defendants three of which are alleged offenses that took place on April 20, 1905, September 19, 1905, and September 1, 1901. These include the second, third and fourth counts. The indictment as handed to the court contained 46 pages, being a bulky volume, as it contained the names of the witnesses called before the jury during its investigations.

When the jury reported to the court the indictment was handed to Judge Deitrich together with a report of the grand jury. The court accepted the indictment, but after glancing over the report, handed it back to the foreman with the remark that there was no provision in the statute by which he was allowed to accept an informal report from the jury that the indictment was all that was in order.

TRIBUTE TO STUDENTS.

Stanford Magazine Stands by Those Who Were Suspended.

Stanford, April 13.—In a memorial edition dedicated to the 41 Stanford men who were recently suspended by the student affairs committee for their part in the student parade, expressing disapprobation of the methods of the committee to the Stanford Sequoia, the college magazine, today said editorially:

"We extend our sympathy to students whose characters were assailed by some members of the faculty. Our admiration goes out to the men who can fight, who can see justice thwarted in an American college and still have faith in the ultimate triumph of justice. And our admiration also goes out to the men who made the manly apology for the trivial offense and who were discriminated against in the final reckoning; who did not defy college authority, but who joined in protest of the most narrow-minded, unfair student affairs committee that was affiliated upon an American university. To all these men this issue of the Stanford Sequoia is affectionately dedicated."

TO HUNT ON RESERVE.

Wallow Man to Hunt for the Government on Reserves.

Joseph Carper of Wallowa, will on the 17th of this month, commence to hunt for bear, coyotes, wildcat and other wild animals on the forest reserves in Wallowa county. He draws a salary of $90 a month, and what he can make from the sale of the furs. But as the furs are practically worthless during the summer months, his income will principally be what his salary will bring him. The position is attended with considerable danger. The hunter spends his entire time in the woods, hunting on the hills. The government goes to this expense to protect sheep and cattlemen from wild animals.
