FESTIVAL IS ON.

Portland News Letter Explains Opening Day of Festival.

Portland, June 1.—(Special correspondence.)—The Portland Rose festival opened with all Portland in a holiday humor, flower-wreathed windows and roses in evidence everywhere. Thousands of visitors from outside points are in the city, and incoming crowds are greeted by an immense Arch of Welcome erected at the approach to the union station. The Mosquito fleet lies at anchor in the harbor, an excursion of over 100 people, under the auspices of the Sacramento Valley Development league, arrive this morning from the South. Washington is sending generous delegations and an excursion is expected from Lewiston, Idaho, tomorrow morning. The whole northwest feels that in addition to the innumerable purely attractive features of the celebration, the event is a marvelous advertisement of the climatic conditions, for nowhere else in the world can flowers be found more beautiful than the roses of the North Pacific coast. The grand parades will exceed anything ever shown on the coast, and besides all the leading towns of Oregon, Washington will be represented in the floats and decorated vehicles.

When the Oregon Development league recently asked the co-operation of the state in making a comprehensive exhibit of the products of the Pacific northwest, heartiest assurances of help came from every quarter, but before definite arrangements could be completed the trustees of the Commercial club building were offered a five year's rental of $21,000 for the exhibit room and felt compelled to accept this in justice to the stockholders. But the officers of the league say that their plan will yet materialize.

Both the Pacific Monthly magazine and Sunset appear as special Rose Festival numbers for June. Nothing proves the activity of Oregon and Washington communities so forcibly as a glance through the advertising sections of these coast-published magazines.

Manufacturers in all parts of the United States seem to be taking a new interest in the investigation of the condition here in the northwest, and especially in this true of the factory which represents a moderate investment.

From every city of any size on the coast delegates have come to Portland to attend the session of the Pacific Coast Ad Men's association. It is being held in the Convention hall of the Commercial club building, and the association will enjoy a unique dinner at the club tonight—their banquets are probably the most unusual and interesting given by any convention—they have been compared to similar affairs of the famous Gridiron club of Washington—and since the Portland ad men claim to have the largest advertising club in America, they are making special effort as hosts.

A communication went out last week from the Portland Commercial club to the organizations of the state asking for a supply of literature issued by each community. Special files of these publications are kept for the information and benefit of newcomers, who naturally come to the larger cities first and to whom such a distribution bureau will be of the utmost advantage. The whole Pacific northwest is included in the scope of this work.

Court Sits Tomorrow.

The June term of the circuit court will sit tomorrow morning to pick up the work of the term, which is not very extensive this time. The full docket will be published in The Observer tomorrow.

Try it if you are not making the headway you hoped. Cold as our cream is it will warm her heart toward you if you give her enough of it.
