SEARCH FOR GOLD BULLETS

A few days ago T. B. Early of the Colville reservation, and Chief Red Thunder, of the Nes Perce Indians, passed through La Grande, giving Elgin as their destination. For the mind of man the story of lost treasure has always a fascination, and stories of the real object of the journey of these men immediately became rife. The most generally circulated report is that they were in search of a mine, supposed to be located somewhere in the mountains between here and Walla-walla, about which many marvelous stories have been circulated since the occasion of a battle in that locality between Chief Joseph's warriors and the United States regulars. The story runs that the red warriors were surrounded on a mountain in their retreat toward the Canadian border and during the battle following ran out of ammunition. Thereupon Chief Joseph sent his young men to an abandoned mine in which abounded virgin gold, and soon the whites found that they were being killed with golden stags. Thus the legend, if it be one, goes; and it has been revived from time to time by mysterious visits of both white men and Indians into the locality of the battle. Mr. Early denies that the trip of himself and his protegee had any such significance, and that they were simply on government business. He admits, however, that they were turned back by the snow, and were entirely unable to accomplish their object. He says that they both will return in August. They were watched closely all the time after they left Elgin.

Chief Red Thunder is a magnificent physical specimen, and looks every inch a chief. But he will not talk. The two returned from Elgin last evening and left today for Pendleton.

The Story of Rexall

REXALL means "king" and the combination makes REXALL "king of all." We have proven time and time again that Rexall is king above all others. For more than two years an expert traveled all over the world in search of extraordinary remedies. Whenever he heard of a wonderful cure of any nature he did not rest until he personally could see the effect of the prescription used. Where he found the remedy perfect he purchased the prescription, but it was never used as a Rexall remedy until the properties had been thoroughly analyzed by the chemists and physicians of the United Drug Company.

"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years," writes Albert H. Watts of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." During the summer kidney irregularities are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. A. T. Hill
