OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The annual convention of the District Epworth League met in Payette last week.

The attendance was good and the meetings interesting. The papers read were mostly on the subjects of Bible study and home and foreign missions.

Thursday evening a delightful reception was given by the people of Payette and an interesting program was rendered.

The La Grande District Epworth League decided to support a missionary in the foreign fields. On the call for volunteers Miss Hattie Doane of Ontario offered herself as a foreign missionary, and will probably be sent to India.

The officers for the coming year are as follows:

President, Miss Ora G. Cates, Baker City; first vice-president, Etta Shelton, Union; second vice-president, Frank Kilbourne, Payette; third vice-president, Ethel Redhead, La Grande; fourth vice-president, Emma Clement, Baker City; secretary, Lillian Kent, Payette; treasurer, Geo. L. Cleaver, La Grande; junior league superintendent, Mrs. Garron.

It was decided to leave the appointment of the next meeting place in the hands of the board of control.

Shooting at Richmond.

Word comes from Richland of a shooting in which J. E. Williams shot and seriously injured Jim Elliott, both residents of that place. It seems that the men had been drinking quite freely and started out with rifles to go hunting. When a short way from town they began shooting at a mark to see which was the best marksman. Williams shot at a post and bantered Elliott to shoot, which the latter refused to do. Argument immediately began, and Williams told Elliott if he did not shoot, he would shoot his eye out. Elliott laughed and swore at him, answering that he wasn't a man to do it, or something to that effect. This enraged Williams and, drawing his gun, he shot Elliott. Williams was arrested and has his preliminary hearing tonight at Richland before Justice Jas. Clarke. Elliott has a wife and one child, who are very respectable people. Williams is well known in Richland.—Baker City Herald.

No New Developments.

Up to this afternoon no further developments have occurred in the Nolte prohibition case and no amended complaint has yet been filed in behalf of the saloon men. But it is understood that such a course will be taken and that attorneys for Nolte are now preparing the complaint, says the Pendleton East Oregonian.

When the new complaint is filed it will then have to run the gauntlet of demurrers, answers, etc., from the opposing side and if it succeeds in doing so the case will then be at issue and can be tried out on its merits. Presumably the case can be tried out before July 1, but that is something that remains to be seen.

That they have three different courses open to them is declared by the lawyers for the saloon men. One of these is to file an amended complaint as is now proposed. Another is to take the Nolte case to the circuit court on a writ of review from the county court. The third method would be to bring a suit in the federal court in behalf of some interested party outside of the state.

Pioneers Will Meet.
