NOSE PAINT MUST BE PURE.

After today, all brands of nose paint sold within the confines of the United States must be correctly labeled, in accordance with rules and specifications promulgated by the internal revenue department. These regulations, which become effective tomorrow, have been harmonized with the provisions of the pure food and drug act, with the result that distillers and blenders all over the country are up in arms and declare that they will appeal to the courts for relief from the obnoxious rulings.

So far as the trade is concerned, the most important feature of the ruling in this connection is the fact that hereafter labels must appear "without the addition of any adjective or descriptive word." This eliminates "rye" and "bourbon," which heretofore have been used to describe the kind of whiskey.

Heretofore all whiskey, whether blended, artificially colored, has been marked "whiskey" on the barrels as they have been filled and shipped from the distilleries and places of rectification. Hereafter what is known as "straight whiskey," that is, an article that has been aged by time and not mixed with other spirits, will be marked "whiskey" and only that. Blended or compounded whiskey will be marked on the barrel in letters at least one inch long burned into the barrel, "blended whiskey."

A mixture of whiskey with alcohol, provided there is enough potable spirits to make a real compound, and not the semblance of such spirits, with the distillate with which it is mixed.

Alcohol, commercial alcohol or high wines which have been manipulated by the aid of artificial flavors, colors or extracts, or otherwise, so as to resemble some particular kind of potable spirits, preceded with the word "imitation."

Tax on Near Beer.

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—An ordinance imposing a tax of $200 a year on all persons or firms selling "near beer," an imitation of lager containing less than 2 per cent. of alcohol, will become effective tomorrow and will doubtless result in driving many individuals out of business. Near beer has become highly popular since the passage of the Georgia prohibition act and merchants of all kinds handle it, as well as scores of near-saloons. The ordinance also prohibits free lunch to be served with near beer.
