"NEAR BEER" NEAR LAW

DISTRICT ATTORNEY PHELPS HAS ISSUED A WARNING.

Grand Jury Will Probably Investigate Beverage and Also Dispensers—Jail Yawns for Men Who Persist in Selling Drinks That Produce "That Dizzy Feeling."

Though the officers of the law may seem to be doing little at this time along the line of enforcing the prohibition law, District Attorney W. G. Phelps says that things may be different in September, relates the Pendleton East Oregonian.

Today Mr. Phelps is busy preparing to leave on a mountain trip tomorrow upon which he will be gone for a month or more. This morning he discussed the prospect of law violations, and in the course of the same sounded a warning to those who would sell booze within this county.

"Under the prohibition law a second violation makes a jail sentence of not less than 30 days absolutely necessary. In the Plamondon case Judge Bean held that this applied in cases where two or more indictments are returned against one party and he has been in court but once. So if the law is violated some people are going to jail."

Upon the subject of "near" beer Mr. Phelps says he knows of nothing that permits a person to sell any intoxicating beverages no matter how small a percentage of alcohol it may contain. The local option law prohibits the sale of "intoxicating" beverages and apparently "near" beer is under the ban if it has the faculty of producing a dizzy feeling. But up to this time no complaints have been made against the new drink and no edict has been issued against it.

Since the county went dry Mr. Phelps has been in correspondence with district attorneys in dry sections of the state and in prosecutions that may arise here he will have the advantage of their experience.

While Mr. Phelps is away Attorney C. J. Ferguson will handle any district attorney business that may arise.

Harvest Begins in Morrow County.
The headers are out and the wheat is being cut and soon Morrow county will be in a condition to again furnish more than its quota of wealth to keep America at the head of the list of the wealth-producing countries. The new method of mashing the wheat land is proving a success in this county, and while it is considerable work to go over the land three or four times, those farmers who have no lazy bee in their bonnet will this year have as good a bank account as last year.—Ione Proclaimer.
