TOILS OF LAW AND ORDER REACHES OUT AFTER DAVID M' FARLANE

ARRESTED PLEADSGUILTY AND IS FINED

PROSECUTION HOLDS WHIP HAND OVER THE FRACAS.

Complete Confession From Frank Bartmess Sees Wheels of Justice Moving Rapidly—Fiction Story Like Incidents—Josie Palmer Arrested, Squeals on Bartmess; Bartmess Arrested and Squeals on McFarlane; McFarlane Pleads Guilty and is Fined—District Attorney Has Dis-mayed Master Hand.

Because Josie Palmer imbibed too freely of intoxicating liquors procured through methods in violation of the local option law, she has been arrested, arraigned and subjected to sentence, and David McFarlane, proprietor of the Kentucky liquor store, has been arrested, fined $250, paid it and thus culminated the first real bootlegging case in Union county since the county went dry.

Story of the Arrest.
Last Monday night the notorious Josie Palmer appeared on the streets of La Grande in an intoxicated condition and raised such a commotion at the depot that the officers were compelled to take her in charge and place her in jail.

When District Attorney F. S. Ivanhoe heard of the fact, he realized that the conditions were such that he could ascertain where she got the liquor and how she got it. He had her brought before him and told her she could either tell the truth and cite the facts as they existed and in such detail that he could convict the person who sold her the liquor, or he would file a petition in the circuit court asking that her parole be withdrawn and that she be immediately turned over to the penitentiary to serve her sentence of seven years. When thus confronted she hesitated, but when the prosecuting attorney told her it was her move, she "came through" with the story to the effect that she gave Frank Bartmess $1.50 to buy her a bottle of whisky and place it in her valise, which he did. Josie Palmer then made affidavit to the above facts and was made the complaining witness against Bartmess and he was arrested and placed in jail yesterday. The district attorney had Bartmess brought before him and told him that he had sufficient evidence to convict him, but that he wanted to know where he got the liquor. His idea was to capture the man who was really dealing in the traffic. Mr. Bartmess, for the time being, had a faulty memory. He denied that he purchased the liquor or knew anything about it. The district attorney, while holding out no promise of leniency whatsoever, informed him that he had sufficient evidence to convict him, and that if he did not make a clean breast of it, he would insist, and do all in his power to have the court impose the highest possible sentence.

He told Bartmess to think it over until morning. He evidently did considerable thinking during the night, for early this morning he called for the district attorney and made a clean breast of the entire transaction, confirming what Josie Palmer had sworn to, and he then swore out a complaint against David McFarlane, the man who furnished him the liquor. At 3 o'clock the officers armed with a warrant of arrest and with a warrant to search the premises where Bartmess

BRYAN ASKS AID OF BUSINESSMEN

PLEASED OVER WALLA WALLA ELECTION OUTCOME.

Walla Walla Has Jumped Into Prominence Throughout United States by Defeat of Republican at Mayoralty Polls—Will Meet Representative Men of Business to Get Suggestions for Picking Campaign Manager—Ready for Notification.

Fairview Farm, Lincoln, Neb., July 16.—Bryan today sent an invitation to six big business men, who are not known as politicians or party men, requesting them to visit him here, or if possible, meet him at Chicago on July 25, when he will be in that city to attend the meeting of the sub-committee of the national committee.

Bryan desires advice from these men in the matter of selecting a manager for his campaign, and wishes to give the business element a voice on this matter. It has been learned from an authoritative source that Bryan will make a speaking tour of the east, visiting the main cities.

Today workmen began work grading the road to Fairview in preparation for the Bryan notification ceremonies on August 12. Bryan today expressed gratification over the receipt of a telegram from W. H. Dunphy of Walla Walla, announcing the defeat of the local Taft organization in Walla Walla, in the mayoralty contest.

ARMADA GREETED AT HONOLULU

TWELVE SHIPS REACH END OF THE FIRST LAP.

With Practically the Entire Population of Honolulu on the Lookout, the Atlantic Fleet Steams Into Pearl Bay—Elaborate Program Will Be Carried Out in Honor of Visiting Officers and Men—Natives Outdo Themselves as Hosts.

Honolulu, July 16.—Looking out this morning over the streets and buildings of Honolulu, the spectator is prone to wonder whether there are any flags or bunting left in the United States. Certainly the supply of such emblems of patriotism must have visibly decreased on the continent, for this city is today veritably wrapped and swathed and almost hidden beneath a waving sea of Stars and Stripes. Assuredly, this is to be a great day in Honolulu—the day that is to mark the arrival and glorious reception of the Atlantic fleet.

Not since the dusky and adipose queen of the Paradise of the Pacific stepped down from her throne and resigned her crown and scepter, and Uncle Sam, Rex, ruled in her stead, has there been such an outburst of truly American patriotism. It is not alone the Americans who are on the tiptoe of excitement, straining their eyes seaward to where the monster battleships will soon appear above the horizon. The native Hawaiians are quite as much excited, and even the swarming thousands of Japanese—that horde of little brown men which, say the alarmists, will some day arise in its might and replace the star-spangled banner with the blazing ensign of the mikado—even these have caught the infection and have become for the moment, at least, patriotic Americans.

When the battleship fleet arrives in the crescent-shaped harbor today, it will have traversed a distance of 2998 miles since leaving San Francisco nine days ago. The floating fortresses will remain here until next Thursday before resuming the voyage, with Auckland, New Zealand, as the next stopping place. During the week in Honolulu there will be scores of entertainments for both officers and sailors, and if Commander in Chief Sperry and the other rear admirals of the fleet do not die of indigestion, it will not be the fault of the entertainment committee.

As the vessels steam through the narrow but deep channel which gives entrance through the coral reef to the harbor which is known as "the cross-roads of the Pacific," the enthusiasm of the people, already boiling over, will pass all bounds. Practically all of Honolulu's 40,000 population will be on hand to give a welcome, and will be augmented by thousands of others from every part of the island of Oahu. It will be a cosmopolitan crowd on the pier to greet the "Jacks," shouting "Aloha" (love to you) in the musical tongue of the Kanakas. There will be wreaths of flowers for throwing over the heads of the Americans as they step on the pier. It will be an offering of a music and flower loving people. In the crowd will be the full-bodied and plump-faced natives, Americans, Chinese, Japanese and Portuguese and mixtures of nearly all of these races.

One of the places to which many of the sailors will undoubtedly go will be Waikiki beach, which is reached by trolley. It is in front of this beach that the Hawaiians indulge in the exciting sport of surf riding. There are, perhaps, no people on earth more nearly amphibious than the Hawaiians. Surf riding may be called the national sport of the natives of the Sandwich Islands.

Another of the pleasures of the native Hawaiians which has survived is the hula-hula dance. This posturing dance is not on the official program, as its modern form is not entirely like its primitive practice. That there will be opportunities to see it is evident, however, as the two principal purveyors of this form of entertainment have been making preparations. They have endeavored to monopolize all the dancers on the island by engaging them far in advance for the week of the fleet's visit.

Twelve vessels anchored in Pearl harbor today. They were welcomed with fireworks and cheers from the tremendous throng. After the officers of the various ships had reported to Admiral Sperry, the latter went ashore and made an official call on Governor Frear.

SERVANTS CAN DEMAND PASSES

FOUR IMPORTANT RULINGS BY THE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

Direct Route is Reasonable Route—No Reparation Where Circuitous Route is Less for Railroad—Important Decision on Railroad Eating Houses—Ruling on Eating Houses Has Wide Scope—No Authority Over Municipal Belt Lines.

Washington, July 16.—Four important decisions were handed down by the interstate commerce commission today. They are:

In cases where members of a family are entitled to a pass under the rulings of the commission, the household servant traveling with the family is also entitled to a pass; a direct route between two points is a "reasonable route" for the shipper; in cases where the cost of a circuitous route is less for the railroad the shipper can demand no reparation; eating houses conducted by railroads, supplied with food by roads at less cost than market price for such commodities will not be allowed to serve others than railroad travelers in the future.

The Commerce Commission has no authority over the conduct of belt lines owned by municipalities, even though they participate in interstate shipments.

Fast Mail Derailed.
East Stamford, Conn., July 16.—One person killed and several injured is the result of the ditching of the fast White Mountain express a few miles east of here today. Dashing along at a rapid rate the engine struck a defective rail and the train left the track.

AMERICANS ARE IN USUAL TRIM AGAIN

WIN THREE PLACES IN FINAL DISCUS EVENT.

Though Other Countries Come in for Honors, it is Principally American Athletes that Carry Away Honors in Olympic Games Today—Rose Breaks His Own Olympic Record in the Shotput—Americans Climbing Up Toward the Top.

London, July 16.—Carrying off gold, silver and bronze medals for first, second and third places in the discus throw and breaking the Olympic record, the American athletes are today making rapid advancement toward first place in general results at the world games. Although England holds four gold medals and America but three, Americans say the Britons are victors in events in which the athletes from the United States had not counted upon taking first place in.

The English athletes are showing good form and have the advantage of being on home soil, but America will make a hard fight to repeat the performance of former Olympic games by carrying off first place in a large majority of events.

England's wonderful showing yesterday when it captured gold medals in the 660-yard cycling race and the three-mile race, has heartened the home athletes. They entered the field today with new determination to wrest the laurels from the Americans.

When Martin Shergidan of New York, hurled the discus 134 feet 2 inches today, winning the finals, and breaking his own Olympic record, America made a clean sweep, Griffing taking second place, M. F. Horr, New York, third. Finland counted upon making a showing in this event, but England was expected to take a back seat. In the preliminaries for discus finals, W. O. Burroughs of Chicago, won the first and second sections combined, with a mark of 122 feet 9 1/2 inches; the third section was won by A. K. Dearborn of New York, who reached 126 feet 4 1/2 inches. J. C. Garrals of Michigan, who made a throw of 133 feet 6 1/2 inches and won the fourth section of the contest; M. F. Horr of New York, won the fifth with a throw of 129 feet 5 inches; Meredith of England established a new Olympic record for the 100 kilometer bicycle race when he won the second heat in 2 hours 43 minutes 15.2-5 seconds.

Ralph Rose won the final shotput by making 46 feet 7 1/2 inches, beating

Don't miss this Opportunity to Save Money

IT OUGHT TO BE THE HAPPINESS AND GLORY of every citizen to so live and act that his fellow citizens will esteem him for his goodness, his kindness, and his usefulness. The principles of good citizenship should constitute the code of rules for every kind of business whether public or private. This applies particularly to the drug business, because, owing to the limited knowledge of the qualities of drugs by the general public, it follows that the reliability of the druggist is the chief guarantee of good service.
