The Portland Oregonian is out with the statement that "A big town will never be a dry town and a dry town will never be a big town."

Great Scott, upon what premises of economic science does he base his conclusion?

As a matter of fact, the assets of a city or country is gauged by the number of sober men and women who are daily employed in the production of mental, moral and physical necessities.

Will the Oregonian argue that a debauched, depraved, impotent, lecherous, illiterate, drunken citizenship is one of the economic factors in our civilization to give value and force to our American institutions?

Will the Oregonian contend that the redlight district of Portland, with its attendants of thugs, vampires and anarchists, gives value to its commercial and industrial enterprises?

If Portland should stuff off its large quota of human degenerates, and saloon-made inebriates and criminals and go "dry," would this interfere with the commerce of the city? Would this reduce the totality of wealth that is annually being poured into the city over the three great railway arteries and waterways of commerce that drain the several sections of the state?

Great Scott, try again for a conclusion. Open your eyes to the true economic principles of the foundations of society and commercial supremacy. You've got a guess a-comin'.

Whether "wet" or "dry" Hood River will continue to grow the big red apples and sell them for the highest prices paid on earth for fruit of its kind and class.—Hood River News-Letter.

It only requires a little observation for one to note the commercial importance of La Grande to this valley and county. One morning this week we noticed on the express trucks at the depot outgoing shipments of meat, butter from the creamery, casting from the iron works, cigars from the cigar factory, soft drinks from our soda works, Mattina from our brewery, several baskets of laundry work, work from our plumbers and tinmiths, besides a number of packages of merchandise from our merchants, and numerous fruit shipments. A visit to the freight depot any day will reveal still greater commercial suggestions. A little more loyalty to our home institutions would result in a still greater business. Every dollar kept at home makes it that much easier for you to get hold of that same dollar again.

"Cherry-Blossom."

THE JAPANESE GIVE GOOD EXAMPLE

It is a proverb of Cherry Blossom: Land that a healthy stomach is the basis of all strength. Good nature is also recognized as of great importance. The Japanese as a people are remarkable for their health, endurance, patience and skill.

The cherry tree is the most highly prized of all in Japan. It not only gives forth a beautiful blossom but the wild cherry tree furnishes a bark which is most highly prized in medicine.

Wild Cherry (Prunus Virginiana).

The UNITED STATES DISPENSARY, which is an authority on medicines, says of the properties of this Black Cherrybark:

Uniting with a tonic power the property of calming irritation and diminishing nervous excitability. Adapted to the treatment of diseases in which there is debility of the stomach or of the system. Another authority, KING'S AMERICAN DISPENSARY says, "It gives tone and strength to the system, useful in fever, cough, and found excellent in consumption."

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine of proper strength is a better solvent and preservative of the active medicinal principles residing in most of our indigenous or native medicinal plants than is alcohol. As we use is entirely unobjectionable, while alcohol is well known when used even in small portions, for a protracted period, to do lasting injury to the human system, especially in the case of delicate women and children, he decided to use chemically pure glycerine instead of the usually employed alcohol in the preparation of his medicines.

Nature's Garden.

scientific gardener who knows how to combine the plants given us by Nature to cure our diseases. This preparation is of pleasant taste, agrees perfectly with rebellious and sensitive stomachs, and is extremely effective in restoring tone and vigor to the entire system. It cures inflammatory troubles of the stomach as well as indigestion and dyspepsia arising from weak stomach. One reason why it restored the health of run-down, pale and emaciated people is because it first throws out the poisons from the blood through the liver and kidneys. It then begins its reconstructive work in building up flesh by first making good, rich, red blood.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is made in a large laboratory, thoroughly equipped with every scientific appliance, at Buffalo, N. Y. Qualified chemists are in charge of the laboratory, with nearly a score of skilled physicians and surgeons employed to scrutinize, determine and prescribe these remedies and other means of cure as seem best suited to many thousands of cases of chronic diseases which come before them for treatment each year. It costs you nothing to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce—the head of this Institution, at Buffalo, N. Y., and get an accurate medical opinion in your special case and wholly without charge.

FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR CURES Coughs and Colds PREVENTS Pneumonia and Consumption

Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. There is no danger of Pneumonia, Consumption or other serious lung trouble if Foley's Honey and Tar is taken, as it will cure the most stubborn coughs—the dangerous kind that settles on the lungs and may develop into pneumonia over night.

Cured After Physicians Said He Had Consumption. E. H. Jones, Pastor M. E. Church, Grove, Md., writes: "About seven or eight years ago I had a very severe cold which physicians said was very near pneumonia, and which they afterwards pronounced consumption. Through a friend I was induced to try a sample of Foley's Honey and Tar, which gave me so much relief that I bought some of the regular size. Two or three bottles cured me of what the physicians called consumption, and I have never had any trouble with my throat or lungs since that time."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00. The 50 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much. SOLD AND PREPARED BY A. T. HILL, Druggist
