Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Crandall of Spokane, who are here visiting their mother, Mrs. M. J. Crandall, left this morning to visit relatives in Baker City. They expect to return tomorrow evening and return home Sunday. Ed Cross returned this morning from Portland, where he has been in consultation with the officials of the O. R. & N., in regard to certain adjustments of schedules which have been under consideration for several weeks. Ed says things will come out satisfactory to all. Mr. B. F. Woodward of Fairmount, Minn., is visiting Rev. and Mrs. U. H. Gibbs. Mr. Woodward is a high school teacher in that state and with three others has been spending his vacation in traveling across country and getting knowledge of sociological conditions at first hand, by working in fields, orchards, and following the example set by the late Prof. Wyckoff of Princeton college.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carr are moving into the house recently vacated by E. W. Davis and family. Zweifel & Bay, plumbers, are engaged at Hot Lake at present, installing an immense steam warming oven in the kitchen of the hotel. Robert Newlin has returned from a sojourn at Long Beach, Wash., and shows every evidence of having roughed it to his heart's content. Mrs. Newlin will not return for several weeks yet. Miss Virginia Wade, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wade for the past six weeks, left this morning for Tacoma, where she is nursing in one of the leading hospitals of that city. W. B. Sargent returned this morning from Dallas, Texas, where he went as a delegate to the national grand lodge of Elks, which was held in that city. Mr. Sargent reports having had a most delightful time. While en route he stopped at a number of eastern and southern cities.

Dr. N. Molitor returned last evening from Radium Springs, where he attended the Seventh annual convention of the Eastern Oregon Medical society, held yesterday. The doctor is exceedingly pleased over the meeting, and says it was the very best ever held by the society. The attendance was good, and the papers delivered were scholarly and right up to date. The meeting was presided over by Dr. W. T. Phy, of Hot Lake, who is president of the society. The society as a body listened to a very pleasing address by Dr. W. J. May, head of the sanitarium at Radium Springs, in which he graciously welcomed every one to the resort, and called attention to the fact that progress in medicine and surgery is no longer confined to the geographical limits of the large cities; but that the country and small town practitioner is the custodian of a goodly share of the accumulated knowledge of the profession, and is using his skill and learning to the great advantage of ailing humanity. Dr. W. T. Williamson of Portland, responded to the address of welcome, in which he referred to the fact that the idle man in the profession never has time to attend the meetings of medical societies, thereby missing the great benefit accruing to the man who does attend—and to his patients. Dr. Williamson's remarks were felicitous and pleasing. Dr. C. J. Smith of Pendleton, read a very able paper on "Eastern Oregon, From a Climatic Standpoint." This paper brought out an interesting discussion, participated in by Dr. Pogue of Ontario, Dr. Spencer of Huntington, and Dr. Suttner of Walla Walla. A learned and able paper was next presented by Dr. E. M. Crockett, of Portland. The subject and his treatment of it elicited nothing but approval, and was discussed by Drs. Hawthorne and Coe of Portland, and Dr. Maxey of Boise. Dr. McDaniel's paper, "Operative and Post-operative Treatment," was highly complimented by Dr. Norse of Boise, Dr. Spencer of Huntington, Dr. Suttner, Dr. Coffey of Portland and Dr. Smith of Pendleton. The subject of the "Relation of Tonals and Adenoids to Inner Ear Disease" was ably treated by Dr. A. K. Higgs of Portland. Dr. Higgs has made a special study of diseases of the throat and ear, and is eminently qualified to present the subject. His paper was thoroughly discussed by Dr. May, Dr. Pogue and Dr. Edmonds. Dr. Edmonds is from Hood River. While appreciating thoroughly every paper read before the meeting, one of them, that presented by Dr. R. W. Matson of Portland, was received by the members of the society with genuine enthusiasm. The title of Dr. Matson's paper was, "Human and Bovine Vaccines in the Treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis." Judging by the applause received by the doctor when he had finished, this paper was by all odds the most interesting and most important of the entire session. Dr. Matson dwelt particularly on the great advance made in the knowledge of the use of vaccines, and upon the great value to humankind of the "opsonic index," the most important discovery of medical science in recent years. Without dealing in technical terms, the "opsonic index," which was discovered by a European scientist, with whom Dr. Matson spent a year in special study, relates to the use of vaccines in certain diseases of tubercular nature, and indicates, when determined, the amount of toxic treatment best for the patient. A sumptuous banquet, presided over by President W. T. Phy, occupied two hours more, and during the progress of the banquet, the doctor brought out the social best of every one scheduled to respond to toasts. In the business meeting immediately following the banquet, the officers were elected by acclamation, as follows: President, Dr. W. O. Spencer, Huntington; first vice-president, Dr. C. G. Patterson, Baker City; secretary and treasurer, Dr. R. C. McDaniel, Baker City; member board of censors, Dr. Pogue, Ontario; second vice-president, Dr. Chilton, North Powder. Dr. N. Molitor of La Grande, and Dr. E. B. McDaniel of Baker City, were elected as delegates to the joint meeting of the medical societies of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, to be held in Seattle next year, during the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.
