KENNISON GIRL POPULAR.

The Victim of a Crazy and Disappointed Lover.

Pendleton, July 24.—Additional details of the murder and suicide at Echo yesterday show that the couple had been corresponding, but that the girl had grown tired of Stoffle's attentions. One of the letters from her to Stoffle said as much. A posse of 40 men was immediately formed, and within 20 minutes was in hot pursuit of the murderer, who had fled to the low sagebrush-covered hill near town. While the posse was searching for him, Stoffle had circled through the hills and returned to the Whitworth barn, where he hanged himself. Regarding the murderer and his victim, the East Oregonian comments as follows:

The entire little town was shocked by the crime. Miss Kennison was a favorite among all the people. She was 18 years of age and graduated from the Echo public school last spring. Her mother is married to E. E. Elder, a well known citizen of Echo, and two brothers, L. G. and Charles Kennison, live at Fosters.

B. R. Stoffle, the murderer, has been working for Mr. Elder for some time, and is 24 years of age, a man of medium height, round face and somewhat erratic temperament. Since the Fourth of July he has been going with Miss Kennison, and it is the supposition that she had rejected him, and maddened because of this, he determined on the horrible crime.

Miss Kennison was highly respected and universally liked by every one, and it is not believed that she encouraged his attentions. As there are no eye-witnesses to the crime and no one heard the conversation preceding the murder, the entire secret of the affair is in the keeping of the murderer.

National Park for Baker County.

A natural scenic spot of over 1000 acres in the reservation on Eagle creek, the scenery, natural falls and high mountain range, at one point over 13,000 feet elevation, makes it one of the great wonders of the west and excelled in possibilities only by the Yellowstone National park. This is 40 miles northwest of Baker City.

Mr. Smith, one of the United States geologists, has just returned from the fossil beds of Eagle mountains and brought with him over 1000 pounds of fossils. He discovered an old sea beach with the sand, sea shells and sea gravel all in place. The professor was amazed at this wonderful bit of practically unknown territory and it is likely, with his help, and the efforts of the Citizens' league, that within another year the government will be interested and take this up and develop the same as a permanent national park.

It will be easy of access via the Eagle Valley railroad and at an early date the commercial bodies of the city will do what is necessary to interest the proper government officials.—Baker City Herald.
