SAD MISTAKE

"Is this Hood River?"
These four words were uttered at the train this morning when through passengers saw the array of cherries and learned that they were class A—because they tasted them.

Analyze the sentence. One might preach a sermon on this text, but the foremost thought the remark brings out is that La Grande and the Grande Ronde valley is far from notorious yet. The fame of Hood River is so wide, that the first thought which comes to the tourist when his eyes are opened at the sight of fruit such as grown in this county, is that he must surely be in Hood River. Truly, there is need for more advertising of the Grande Ronde. The remark was occasioned this morning when a passenger uttered the statement on seeing the fine specimen of cherries at the depot. It is an old but true statement to say that our fruit is the best in the land, but that does not avail much if the news is not scattered broadcast. Stand forth, knockers—if there are any—and weigh the evidence of the above statement.

Hall Brings Cherries.

William Hall has brought in a splendid box of Royal Annes for exhibit and distribution purposes. U. G. Couch of Island City, was on hand this morning with cherries in abundance. These "litas" from the growers are highly appreciated here. It is a method of advertising that cannot be equalled and the boosters naturally feel highly grateful to those who donate the fruit. After passengers have been presuaded with a handful of cherries and told this was La Grande, Ore., in the Grande Ronde valley, there will be no more likelihood of that same party mistaking this city for Hood River because La Grande happens to have fruit equal or even superior to the widely advertised fruit center.

TO WEAR UNIFORMS.

Carriers Will Be Supplied With Usual Gray Uniform of Carriers.

When Uncle Sam's servants in this city, Messrs. Ball and Stoddard, make their initial trip as free mail delivery carriers next Saturday morning, they will be attired in the usual natty uniform that graces the mail carriers of other cities. The uniform consists of trousers and blouse of a gray color, army campaign hat and the gray shirt. The summer outfit consists of the trousers and shirt alone.

Mr. Ball's uniform is here and Mr. Stoddard awaits his on each express.

SERVICES END TOMORROW.

Miss Snook Will Temporarily Fill Vacancy at the Postoffice.

The resignation of Miss Mary Reiland becomes effective tomorrow night and her place will be temporarily filled by Miss Alice Snook. Miss Snook took the examination for the place, but the papers have not been graded as yet. The appointment will last until the announcement is made from Washington as to permanent occupancy. Miss Reiland has filled the position of window clerk for the past two years.

Long Lost Horse.

Some two years ago one of the Umatilla Indians, while in this county working in the sugar beet fields, lost a horse, and though a careful search was made for the animal, no trace of it could be found. This morning while the owner, an Indian woman, who is again in the valley, this time digging camas, was in the city, she saw her horse go by. The animal has been bought and sold several times before coming into possession of the present possessor, but the Indian woman will, as soon as she is able to properly establish her right to the animal, gain possession.

Every town has its egotist—the obscure individual who continually tries to be seen in the company of men of standing, which he thinks, will add lustre to his own being.
