WHAT OTHER PLANTS DO

THREE HUNDRED MEN EMPLOYED ABOUT FREEWATER

The enormity of possibilities in a fruit district are partially reflected in a news item from the Freewater country.
The story pictured in the appended item could as well be told in this county if the fruitgrowers would seize existing opportunities. The following Freewater, Ore., news item explains what the packing plants are doing in that section, and shows that Hood River is not the only section where modern methods are employed:

The three fruit packing houses in the Milton-Freewater section, namely the Shields Fruit company, Milton Fruitgrowers' union and Walla Walla Produce company are doing a rushing business these days. There are over 300 packers at work and still they are calling for help. Fifty more, at least, must be had immediately.

Peaches, prunes and apples are the principal fruits now on hand. They are being shipped out at the rate of five carloads a day. On Saturday afternoon there were 13 refrigerator cars standing on the tracks awaiting shipment.

Some go over the O. R. & N. and others in the Northern Pacific care over the Walla Walla Valley Traction company's lines and are being billed to New York, Pittsburg, Chicago, St.
Louis, Minneapolis and points in Montana and Dakota. Good prices are being obtained. The fruitgrowers of this section are realizing more for their fruit the past few years than heretofore. Packing the fruit by experts and the special care given the trees in spraying and thinning has demonstrated that not only does this care pay better, but there are fewer orchards infested with pests, and the fruit commands a premium, the buyers going direct to the orchards and purchasing the fruit on the trees.
The campaign waged by Howard Evans, who acted as fruit inspector a few years ago, and who was at first bitterly fought by some who did not believe in so-called "fads," has resulted in bringing the fruitgrowing industry up to the present standard.
The fruitgrowers no longer seek a market, for the excellent condition of everything sent out of the district brings the buyers direct to the growers.

CLARK HAS THE REINS

NEW COMPANY NOW CONDUCTING BUSINESS IN NEW PLACE

The Island City M. & M. company, with "Johnnie" Clark as manager, is now conducting its business in the building formerly occupied by Frank Kilpatrick, who sold his business to the Island City company. Virtually, the business has been under the management of Mr. Clark since last Saturday, but today is the beginning of the month is also the real opening day for the new firm in this city. What machinery was saved from the conflagration at Island City, and the new acquirements, have been moved to the local headquarters and a few odds and ends are all that remain at the suburban town.

Plans and specifications for the new two-story brick that is to be erected on Jefferson avenue, are rapidly rounding into tangible form. As soon as they are perfected, actual construction will commence and by next summer the firm will be housed in a modern building, which will add one more feature to the city's list of attractions in the business and commercial world.

The enemy soon would be on the run if saints were not so strong on the rest.
